S AN ARCHITECT IS TO A BEAUTIFUL BUILDING . . .

DEDICATED MAY 17, 1953, Saint Benedict church, of Roman baroque style, occupies the southeast corner of Benedictine's 18-acre campus.

ALSO LOCATED on the campus is Saint Andrew abbey, the million-dollar residence of priests and Brothers associated with Benedictine.

BENEDICTINE, home of champions, since its founding in 1927, stresses programs of educational excellence and important service to Greater Cleveland.

A TEACHER IS TO HIS PUPIL . . .

"They that instruct many to justice shall shine as stars for all eternity."

A number of educational practices characterize Benedictine.

Teachers make students write out their answers, instead of checking them off a multiple-choice list. They assign tough homework daily. As a consequence of these and other deliberate measures, Benedictine turns out graduates who do well in college.

Benedictine's reputation is based upon teaching students to work. Teachers make sure that the student adjusts to a single fact of life: You get out of it what you put into it.

This need for plain, conscientious, productive hard work is emphasized through a faculty which, first of all, is understanding. The Benedictine priests, Brothers and laymen like students. They are interested in them and seek to win their confidence.

Furthermore, the Benedictine faculty strives for clarity in teaching through justice and impartiality, with an interesting approach and a sense of humor. A climate of warmth exists at Benedictine since the faculty knows students by name. Students, in turn, feel liked and wanted.

And that's the reason students claim a Benedictine teacher is to education what an architect is to a beautiful building. However, there is this distinction: An architect puts steel and stone and wood together and builds something still, cold and heartless, while a Benedictine teacher finishes the building job of the Divine Architect of souls—producing Benedictine men.

This is done by drawing out from each student all the capabilities within him until they are full grown and ripened and trained. It's the development of the students' powers—morally, mentally and physically.

BENEDICTINE TEACHERS aim to train students' moral, mental and physical powers according to the Supreme Model, Jesus Christ, determined to make students good citizens of heaven as well as earth.

FATHER DENIS, O.S.B., (left), a 1952 Benedictine graduate, and Father Richard, O.S.B., monks of Saint Andrew abbey, were ordained May 28 and will join the school faculty upon completing their theological studies.

BENEDICTINE ENGLISH instructor Father Aloysius, O.S.B., observed his twentieth priestly anniversary Feb. 17.

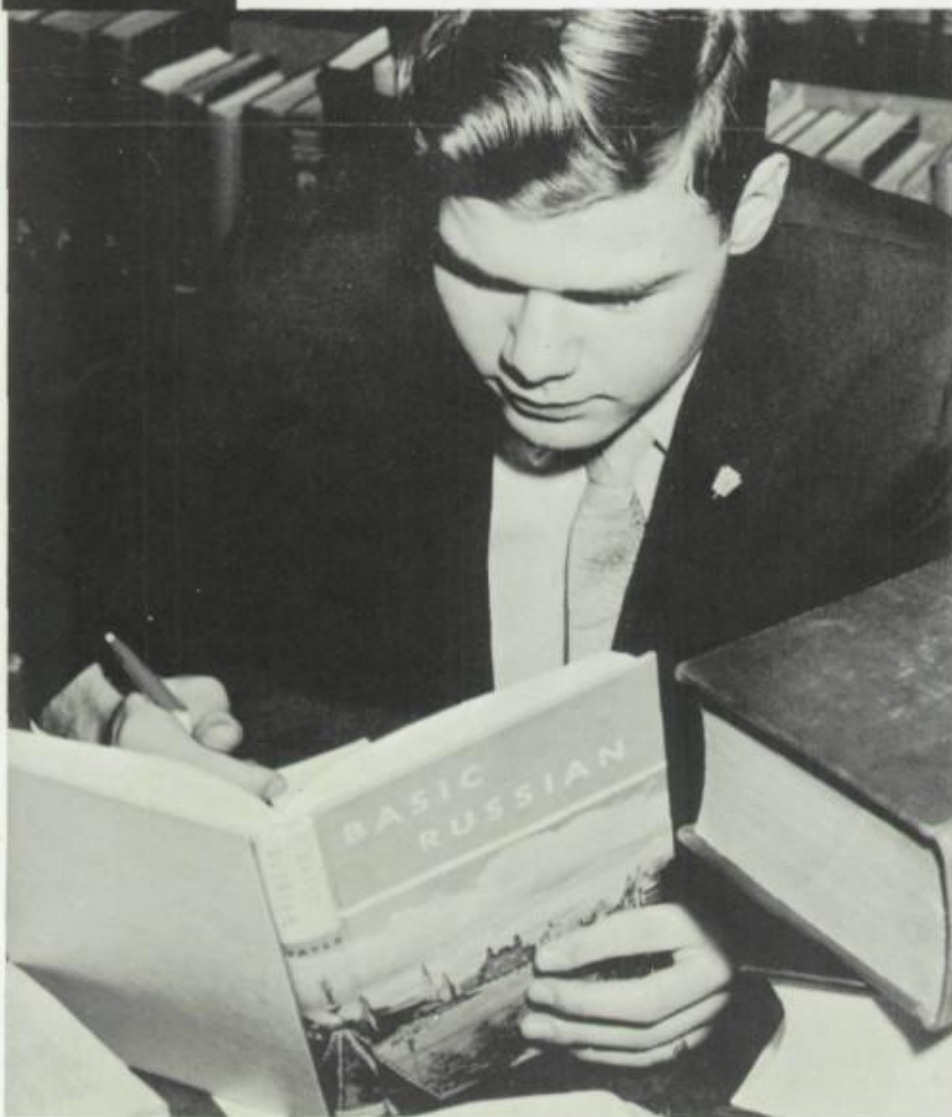

FATHER CELESTINE, O.S.B., died Feb. 10. A member of the faculty when Benedictine began its first scholastic year in 1927, Father Celestine served as the school's second principal, Dec. 1, 1929-June 1930.

... IN THE EYES OF GOD

EACHERS ARE BUILDERS OF CHARACTER—
ARCHITECTS OF THE FUTURE—
MAKERS OF CIVILIZATIONS.

THE CHALLENGING NEED for better education of its students in a rapidly changing, demanding world is recognized by Benedictine's faculty.

MOREOVER, Benedictine teachers provide instruction in proper study habits; emphasize expository writing and ability group programs with guts in them.

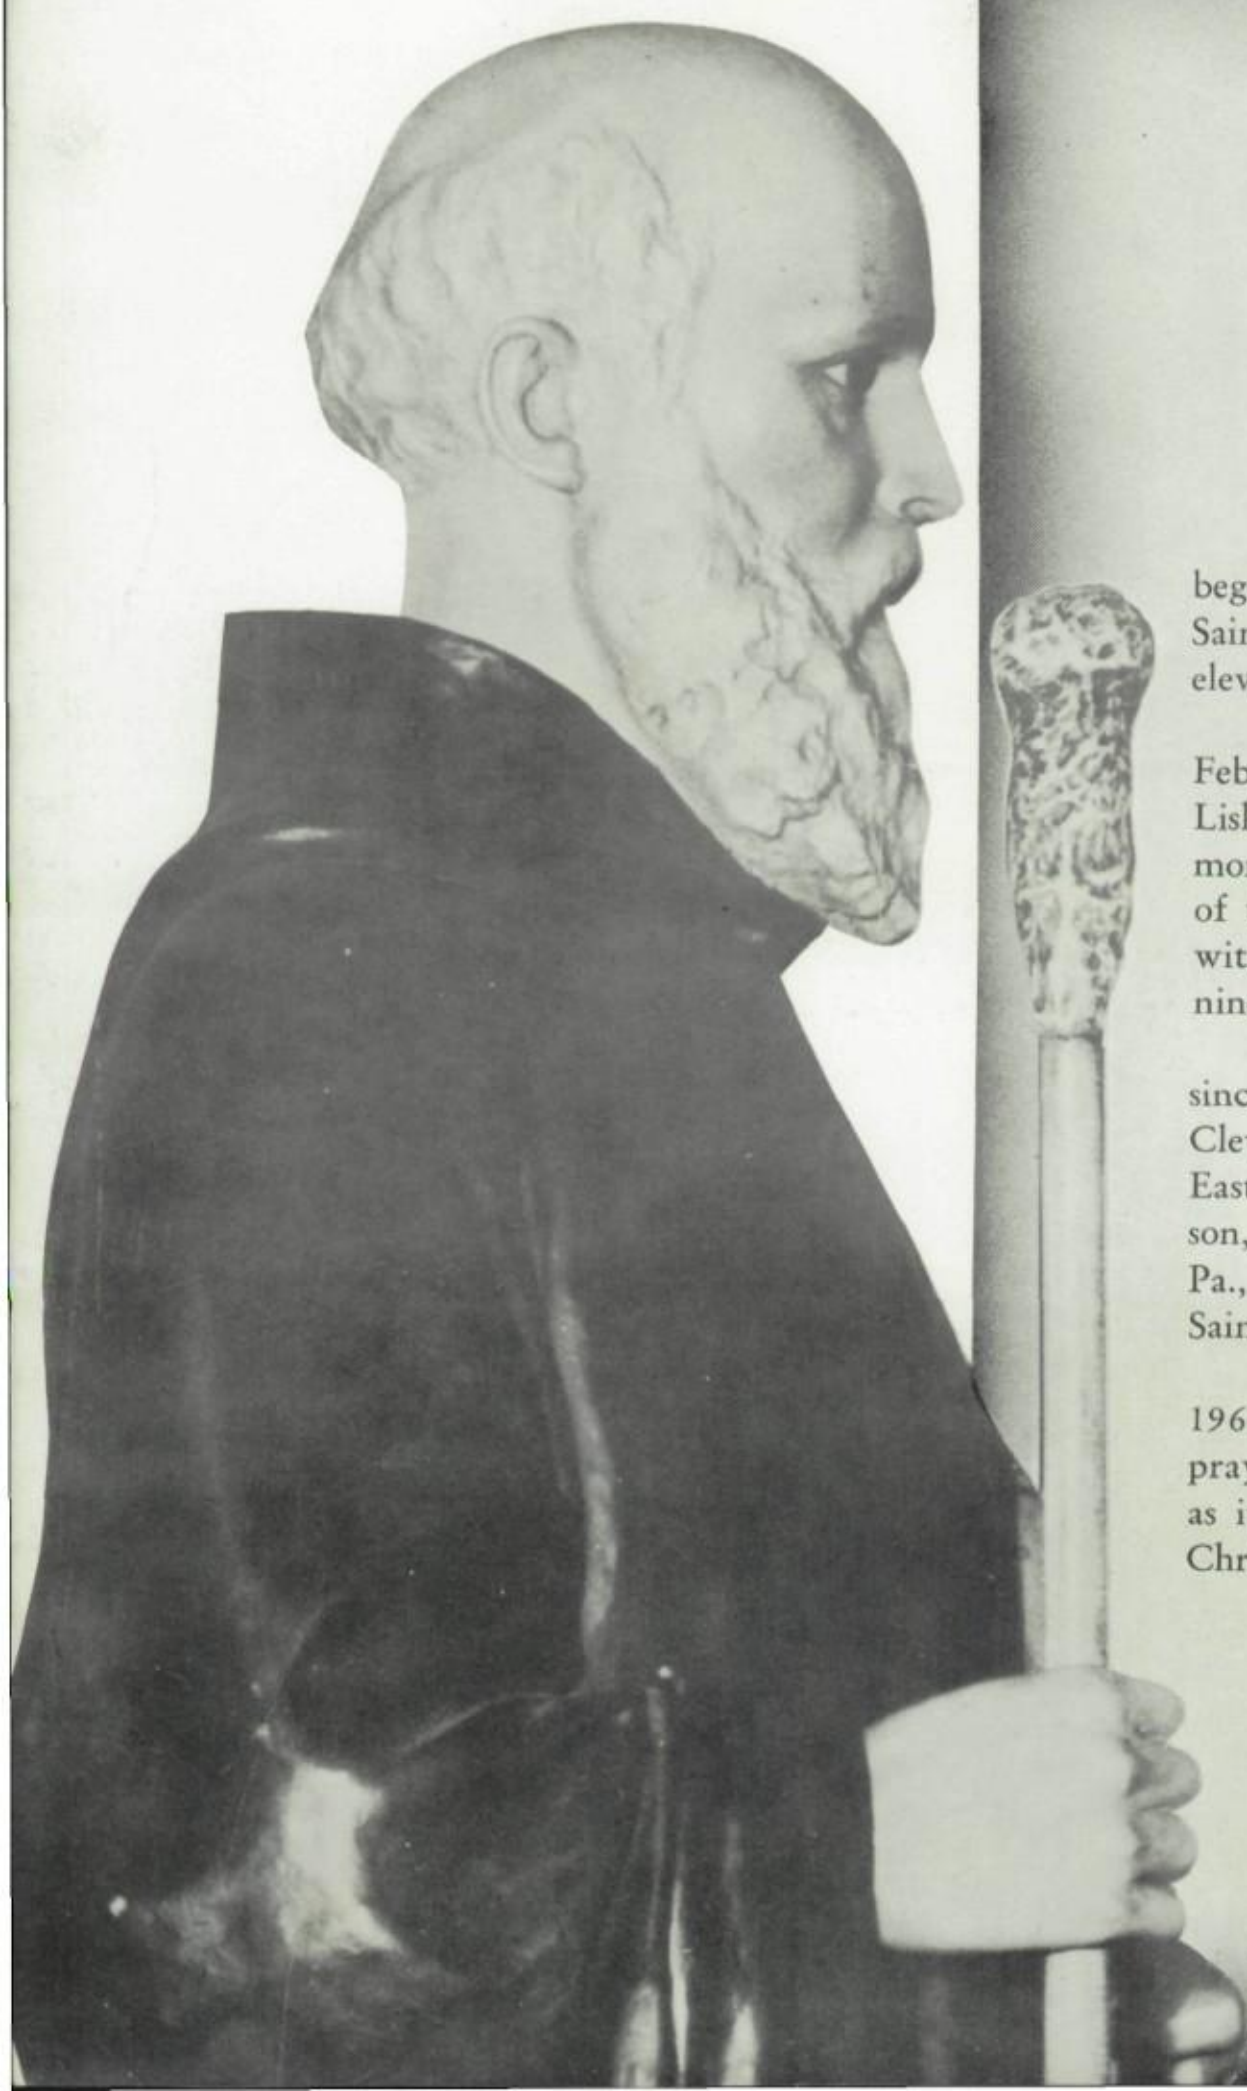

BENEDICTINE'S INSTRUCTORS insist on better student counseling, higher standards of workmanship and solid courses in English, mathematics and the sciences.

ABILITY GROUPING—based on intelligence quotients, classroom performance, achievement tests, teacher evaluation and pupil interest—provides Benedictine faculty members an instrument whereby students approach the maximum of their potential.

DEDICATED TO

A chapter in American Church history began 25 years ago. The Benedictine priory of Saint Andrew's in the diocese of Cleveland was elevated to an abbey July 13, 1934.

From the one priest who came to Cleveland February 1, 1922 from Saint Procopius abbey, Lisle, Ill., to prepare the establishment of the monastery, the campus-located religious house of the priests and Brothers who are associated with Benedictine presently numbers 51 priests, nine seminarians and 19 Brothers.

Besides founding and staffing Benedictine since 1927, Saint Andrew's administers two Cleveland parishes and one each in Chicago; East Saint Louis, Ill.; Superior, Wis., and Rapson, Mich. Chaplaincy posts in Middletown, Pa., and Tinley Park, Ill., also are filled by Saint Andrew priests.

On this, its silver jubilee, we dedicate the 1960 Benedictine to Saint Andrew's abbey, and pray that God will bless this monastic institute as it enters the second 25 years of labor for Christ.

CLASSES WERE NOT in session October 5 when the priests and Brothers of Benedictine observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of their campus monastic home, Saint Andrew's, as an abbey of the order of Saint Benedict.

THE BENEDICTINE marching band provided music for the procession of the lay dignitaries, Knights of Columbus, faculty members, clergy, ministers of the pontifical Mass and the bishop from the parish house into Saint Benedict's church.

PONTIFICAL MASS officers (left to right): Father Michael, O.S.B., archpriest; Abbot Theodore G. Kojis, O.S.B., celebrant; Father Armand, O.S.B., deacon, and Father Stephen, O.S.B., subdeacon.

MAIN SPEAKER at the abbey's silver jubilee luncheon in the school auditorium was United States district judge James C. Connell.

FOLLOWING THE pontifical Mass the visiting clergy and special lay guests attended the abbey's silver jubilee luncheon, prepared by the school cooks Mrs. Josephine Kardian, Mrs. Mary Rich and Mrs. Catherine Wilkes.

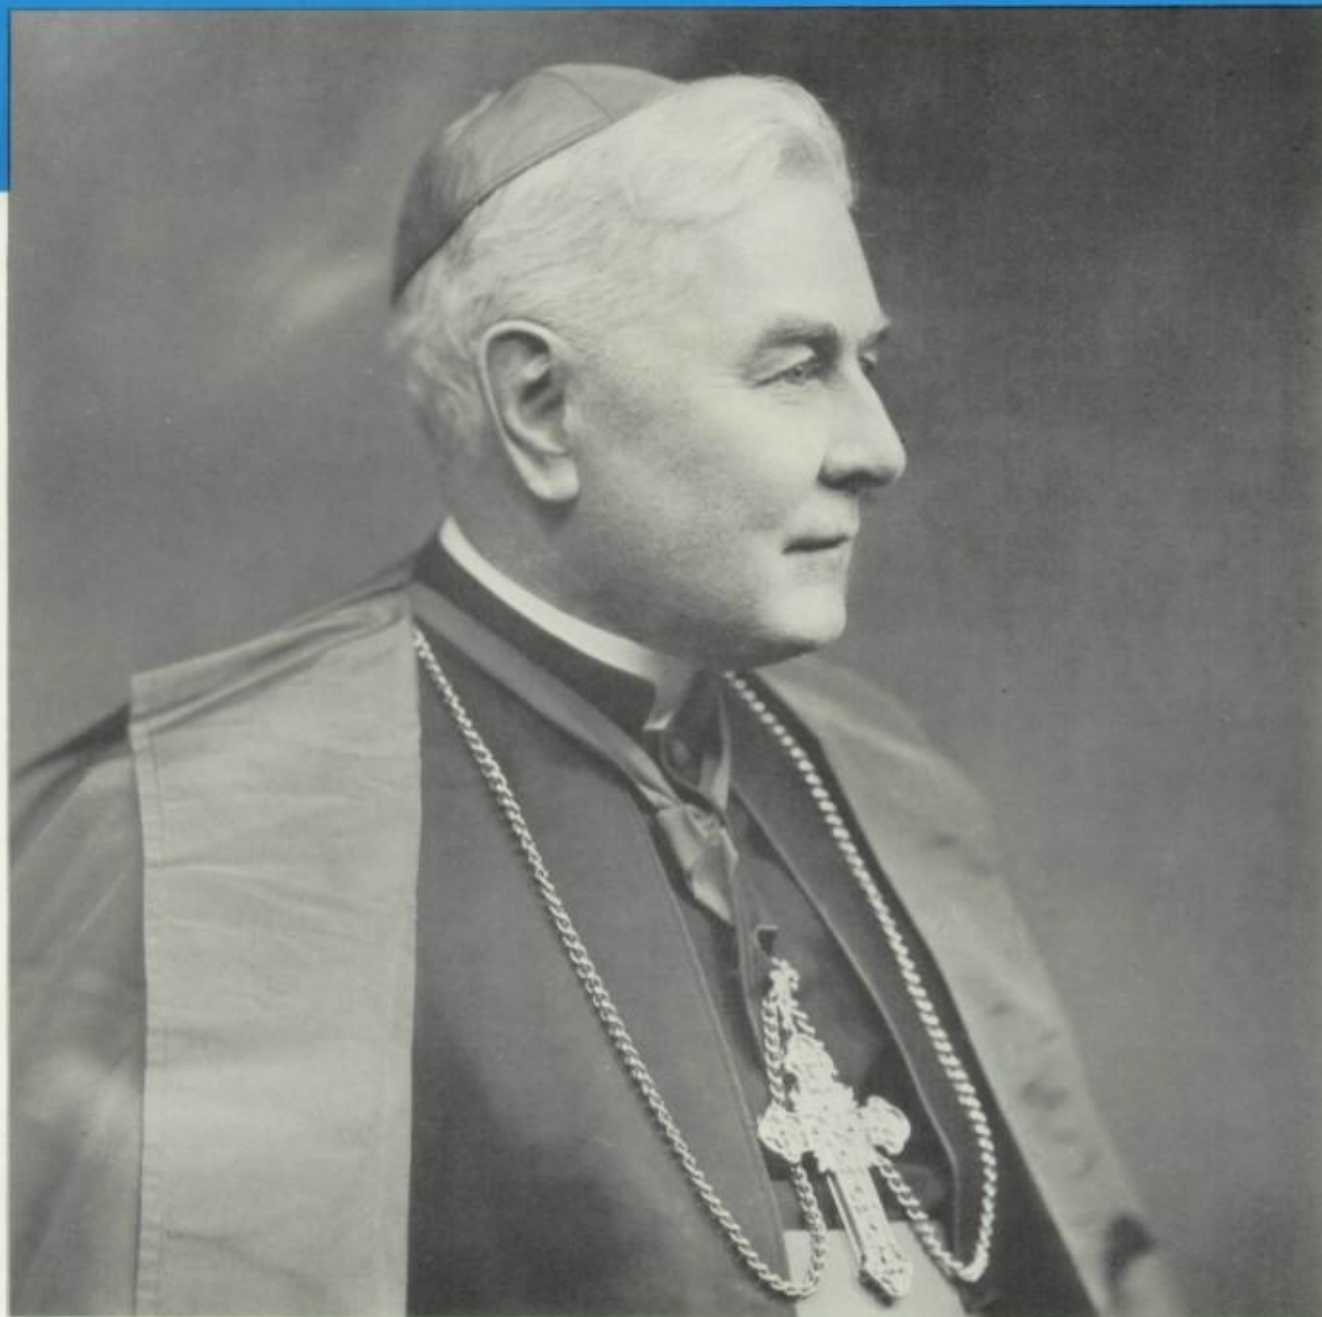

THE MOST REV. JOHN J. KROL, auxiliary bishop of Cleveland, delivered the sermon commemorating the abbey's silver jubilee. . . . Among the clergy present was Right Rev. Stanislaus F. Gmuca, O.S.B., first abbot of Saint Andrew's.

SEATED AT THE main table with Abbot Theodore (center) and Bishop Krol during the silver jubilee luncheon was Cleveland's mayor, the honorable Anthony J. Celebrezze.

MOST REV.
EDWARD F. HOBAN,
S.T.D., Ph.D., LL.D.
Archbishop-Bishop of Cleveland

MOST REV. JOHN J. KROL, S.T.D., J.C.D., LL.D.
Auxiliary Bishop of Cleveland

MOST REV. FLOYD L. BEGIN, S.T.D., Ph.D., J.C.D.
Auxiliary Bishop of Cleveland

To the Benedictine family the archbishop of the Cleveland diocese and the two auxiliary bishops are outstanding and zealous priests, quiet of manner, friendly in approach, kindly and generous in spirit, unstinting in their wholehearted service of God.

As spiritual leaders, Archbishop Hoban together with Bishops Begin and Krol, administer a diocese comprising eight counties in northcentral Ohio spanning 3,414 square miles.

Under their guidance every type of Catholic activity is being initiated, expanded and encouraged. The spiritual condition of the diocese is on a continual increase—as is strikingly shown by the great numbers regularly approaching the sacraments, by those practicing Catholic action and by the educational, charitable, recreational and other Catholic works developing each year.

When Archbishop Hoban was installed coadjutor bishop of Cleveland in 1943, there were 688 priests serving 422,161 Catholics. Now there are 856 priests serving 749,072 Catholics. The scores of new churches and schools indicate Archbishop Hoban's great skill as an executive, organizer and untiring builder.

PRESIDENT

THEODORE G. KOJIS, O.S.B.

WHILE ATTENDING the general chapter of the order of Saint Benedict Sept. 18-25 at San Anselmo college, Rome, Italy, the school president obtained from His Holiness Pope John XXIII the pontiff's apostolic blessing on the community, students, relatives and friends of Saint Andrew abbey and Benedictine high school.

Going on 14 years, since June 20, 1946, an outstanding spiritual leader and administrator is reigning as abbot of Saint Andrew abbey and president of Benedictine high school, responsible with the triple charge of teaching, governing and sanctifying.

Wherever merit is recognized, priestliness cherished, learning appreciated and administrative ability admired, the Right Rev. Theodore G. Kojis, O.S.B., rates A-plus.

In addition, he presents such a fine appearance and possesses such a pleasant personality that he inspires those whom he leads and impresses all with whom he comes in contact.

That Saint Andrew's and Benedictine are flourishing under Abbot Theodore is a foregone conclusion. The jobs are big but the abbot is more than adequately handling the respective offices.

In particular the monks of Saint Andrew's, the secular clergy and Benedictine students readily admit that the abbot's ability, industry and experience stand out.

Aside from his spiritual qualities, Abbot Theodore is a strong and effective administrator. His knowledge and leadership in building, his special interest in Benedictine students—as mathematics and moral guidance teacher—and his devotion to fostering vocations to the priesthood and Brotherhood are among the qualities with which the abbot is identified.

His grasp of the timely issues of the day assists Abbot Theodore to fulfill his obligations as an elected member to the president's council of the American-Cassinense congregation of the order of Saint Benedict.

FACULTY

While we are his to guide . . .

a teacher must be part-time parent, doctor, psychologist and full-time friend . . .

Benedictine, a college preparatory school, takes pride in the excellence of its 43-member teaching staff. The faculty, comprising 28 priests, two Brothers and 13 laymen, is dedicated to the idea that the primary duty of the student is to study.

At Benedictine the faculty runs the school. These instructors do not agree with educators who permit students follow their interests. The Benedictine faculty by creating interests, rejects the theory that the adult teacher does not know best.

In knowing their students personally, Benedictine teachers maintain a personal touch in education. They're interested in providing the best education possible.

To bring Benedictine into line with the demands of the times, principal Father Robert, O.S.B., is guiding the school's educational face-lifting.

Students showing the necessary increase in ability and aptitude

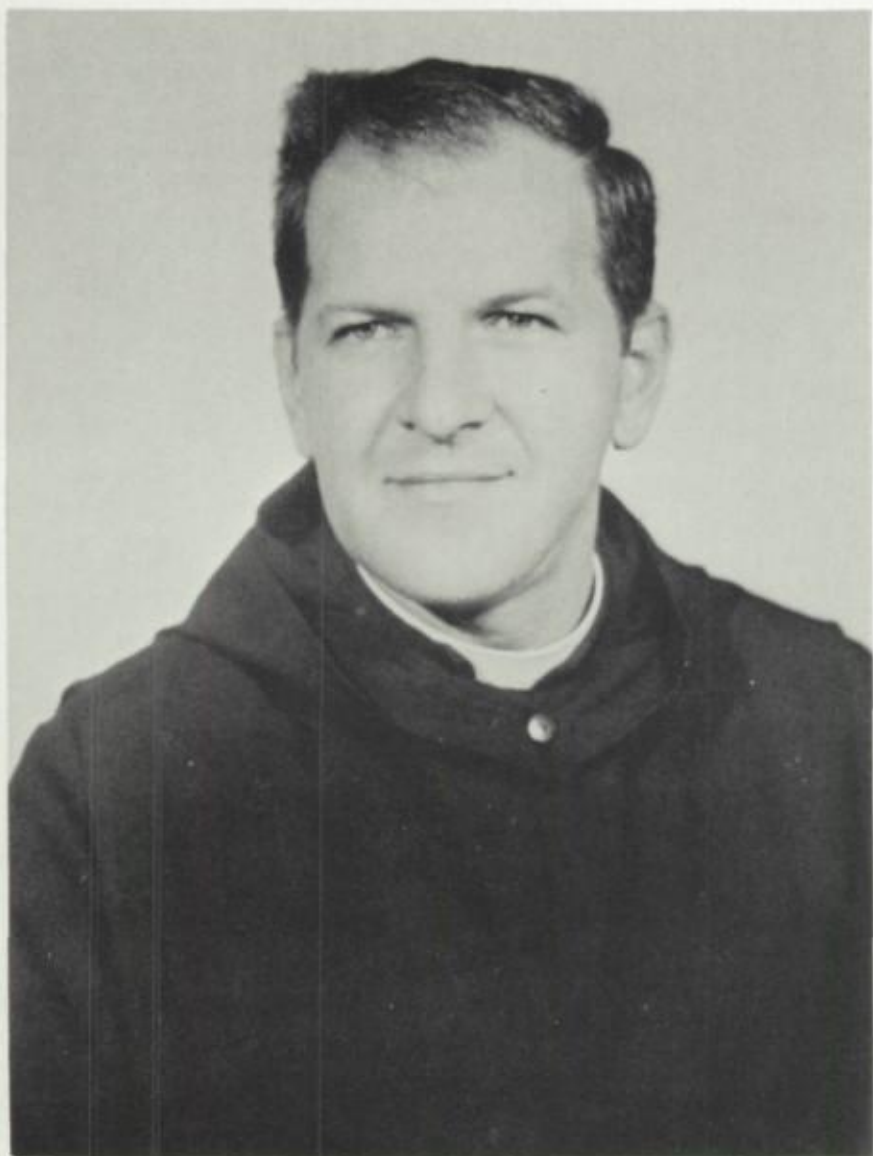

. . . study French in addition to Latin as freshmen. (German, Russian and Spanish are offered in the junior year.)

. . . take plane and solid geometry as sophomores.

. . . study semester course in advanced mathematics as seniors.

CLASSES

A teacher is Mother and Father to students for seven of their 12 working hours . . .

The 995 Benedictine students are fully acquainted with their school, its customs and traditions. They know Benedictine means sound scholarship, proud school spirit and athletic achievement. Seventy-five per cent of its graduates go on to college.

Benedictine accepts students with average and above average intelligence and divides them into ability groups. Colleges agree Benedictine is a first-rate school. A traditional curriculum, selection of students and manly discipline make Benedictine top-notch.

The average class size is 35 to 40 students. With class periods 45 minutes long, the Benedictine school day runs from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

FATHER CYRIL, O.S.B., keeps an exact knowledge of each of his students. The physics instructor qualifies especially as an astute academic adviser because he is aware of the problems students face in various subjects.

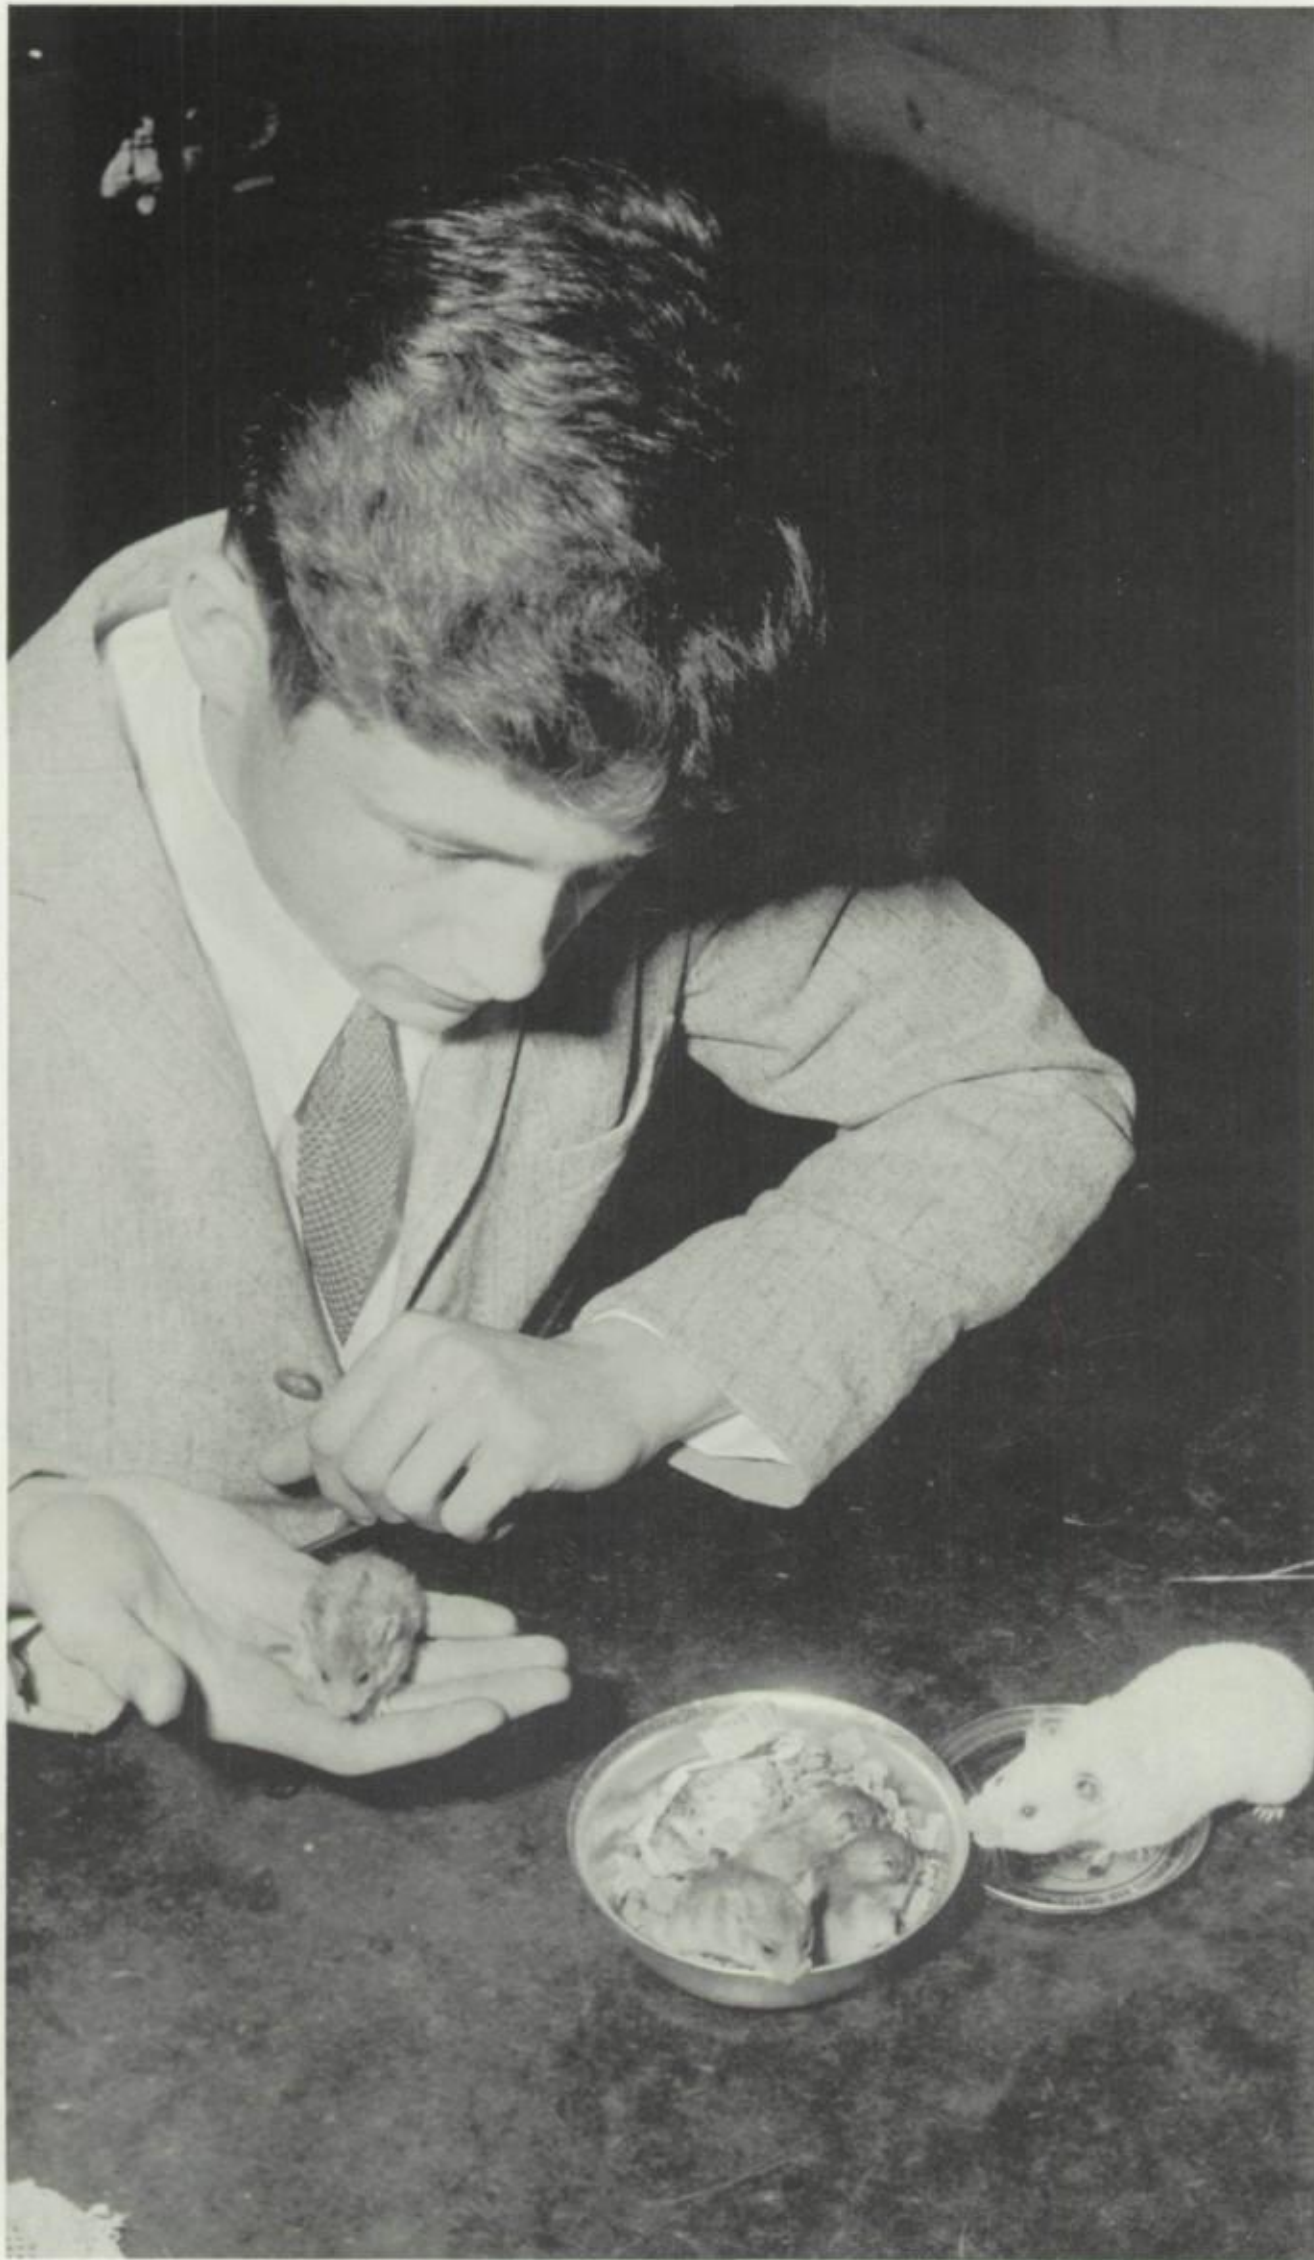

INSTRUCTOR VINCENT FRANCIOLI (center) cheerfully helps his students reach their minimum of 18 hours of homework each week. This information is nothing new to Donald Jankowski (left) and John Gerome.

BIOLOGY TEACHER Father Raphael, O.S.B., shown with Stephen Sudik, is trained in the humanities, can teach the classics, and isn't so departmentalized that he doesn't know about another instructor's field.

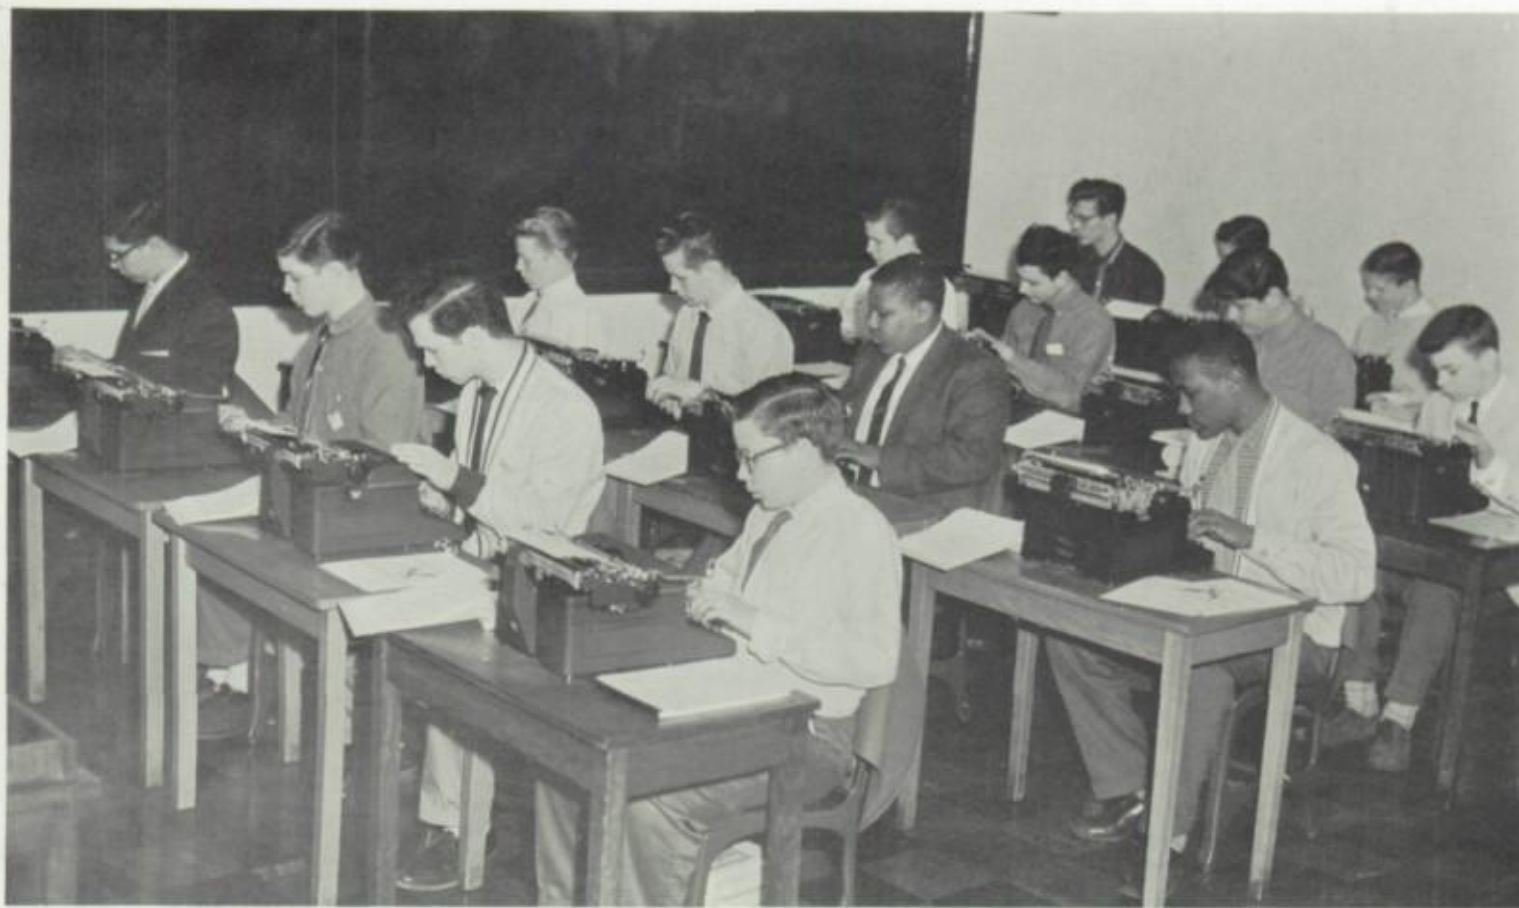

LEARNING IN HARMONY

BIOLOGY-MINDED Frank Pollack happily received the authoritative news that in the 1960s the study of biology and human life will outspotlight physics and chemistry.

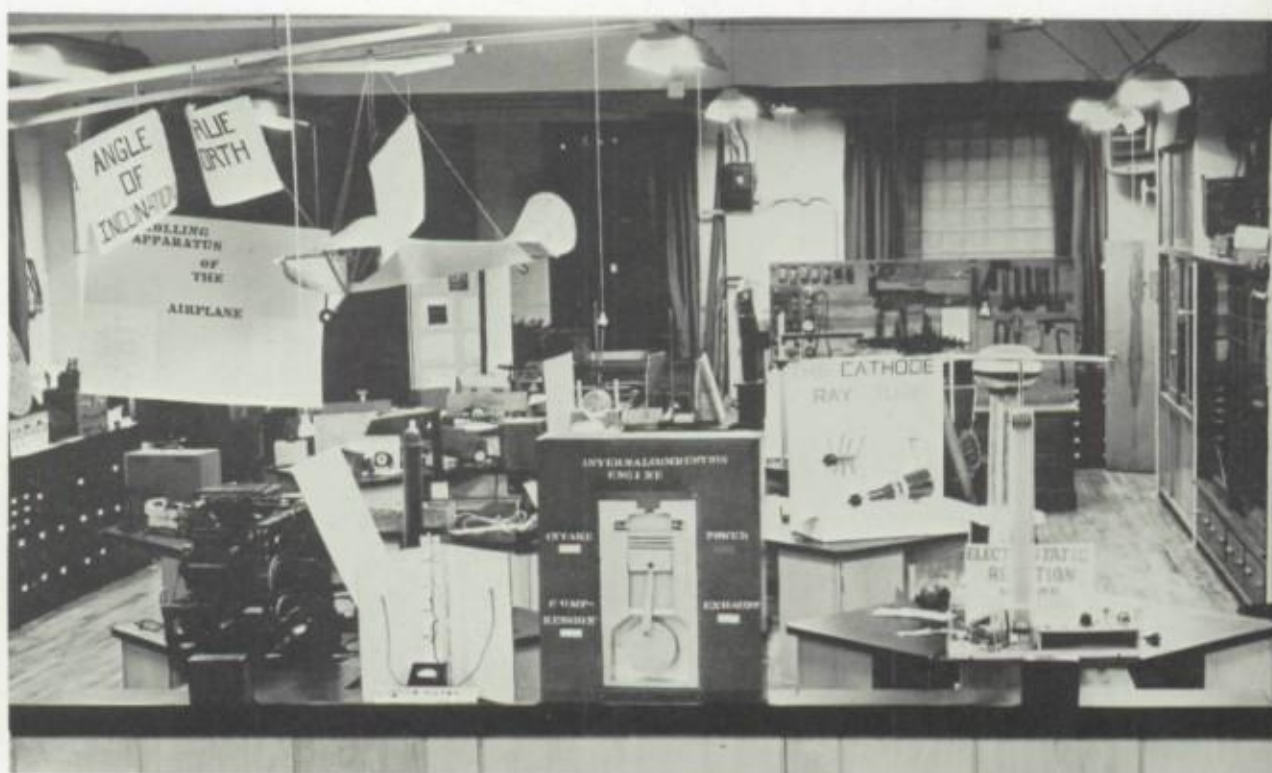

NO MATTER how fine an educational or counseling program is set up at Benedictine, neither is worth a penny without well-mannered, intelligent students. That Benedictine students are sincere about education is demonstrated by Joseph Lombardo (left) and Anthony Pusateri supervising a seminar in aeronautics.

COLLEGES DEMAND that their students know how to type. Benedictine students improve their hunt-and-peck system under the watchful eye of Brother Alfred, O.S.B.

COMPANIONSHIP WITH OTHERS IN OUR CHOSEN FIELD

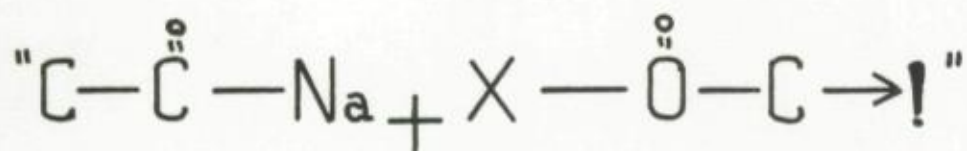

HARD WORK produces good minds is the backbone of the teaching philosophy at Benedictine. The sweat put into these student physics projects shows solid results.

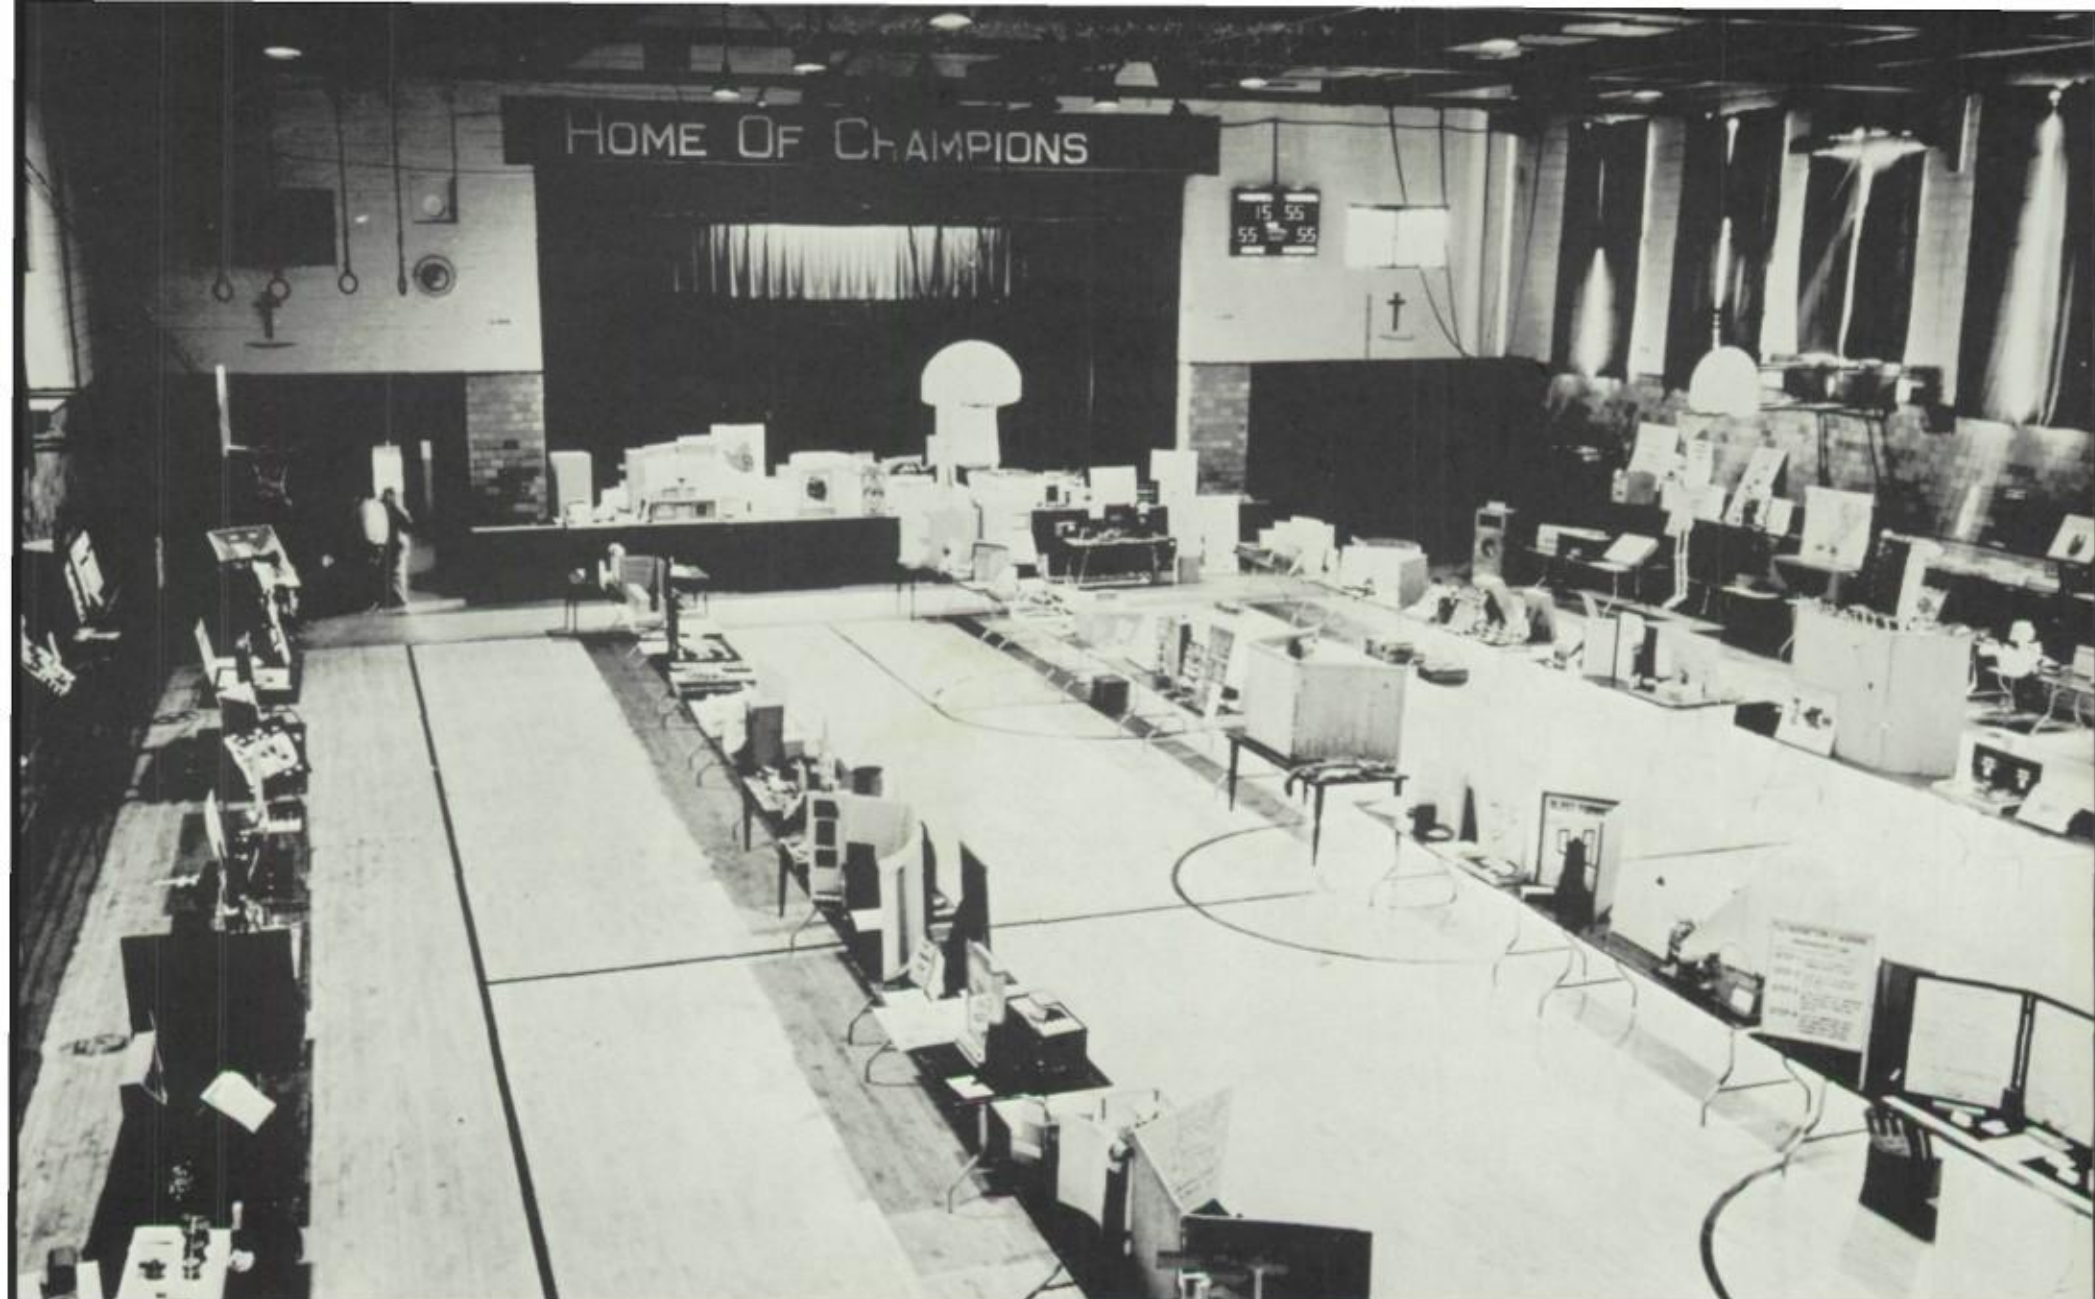

EMBRYO AIRPLANE pilot Tracy Payne handles the steering wheel of the trainer in Benedictine aeronautics department with professional know-how.

BENEDICTINE'S English department head Father Augustine, O.S.B., helps Paul Pickering (left) and Philip Dolsen with the reading accelerator to increase their comprehension and speed levels.

THROUGH AN EASY informality and an air of friendliness Father Anthony, O.S.B., chemistry instructor, provides educational and vocational counseling to Robert Lendvay and John Kaplan.

ANNUALLY IN CONJUNCTION with open house Benedictine sponsors its yearly science day featuring projects of students studying biology, chemistry, general science and physics. On that day the school auditorium becomes the scientific center of Cleveland.

NOTRE DAME'S admissions and scholarship director Father James Moran, C.S.C. (left), explains the university's virtues to John Szubski and Benedictine testing director Father William, O.S.B.

LISTENING IN on Benedictine's amateur radio station is Edward Hudak. Installed in 1957, the School's ham station has been acknowledged by operators in 35 countries.

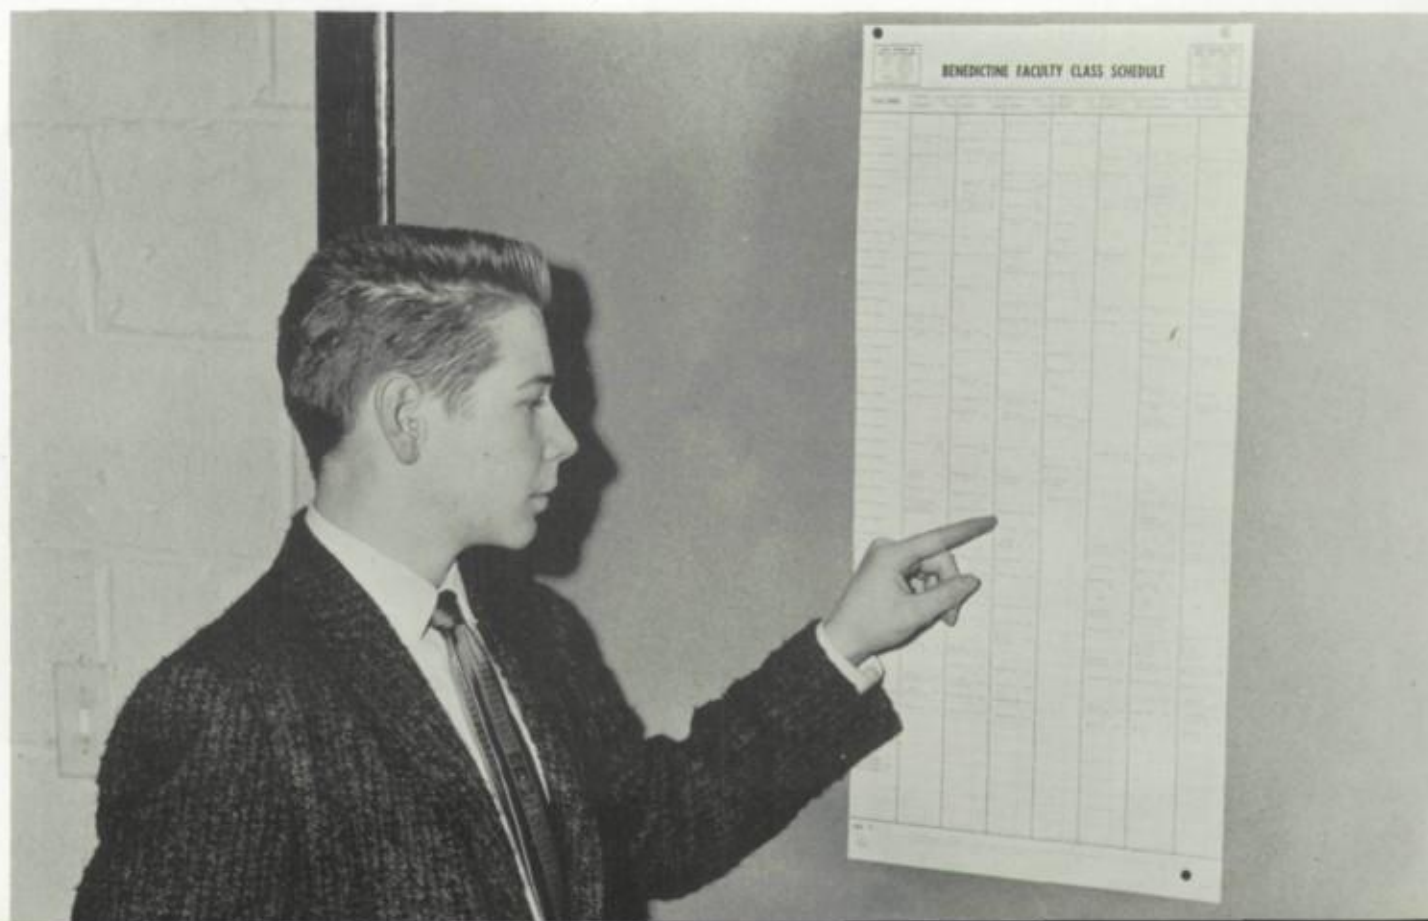

INTEREST IN OUR WORK . . .

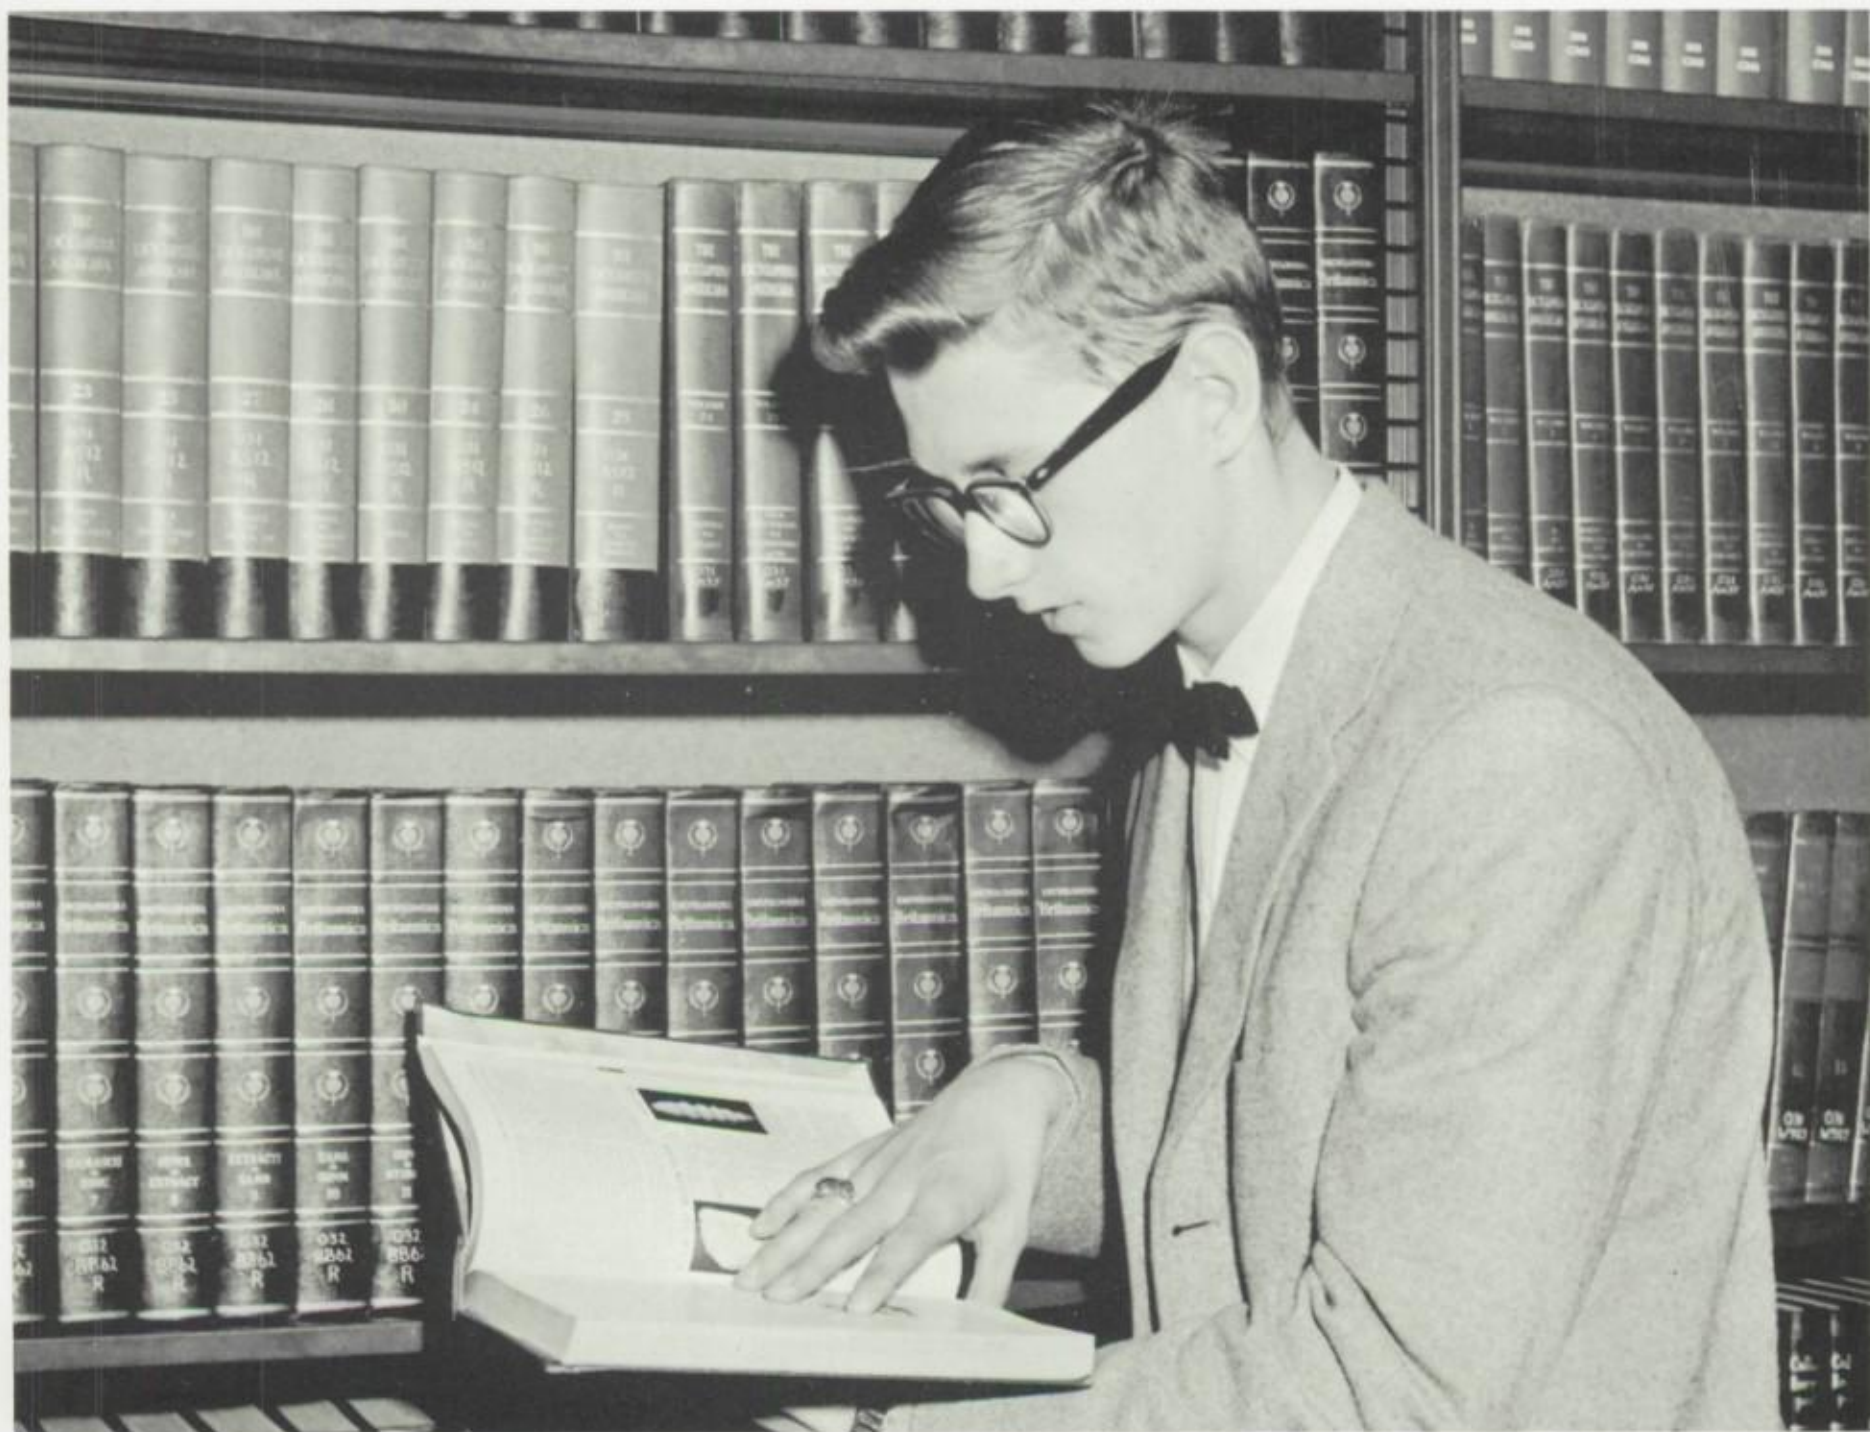

AFTER COMPLETING an assignment for biology, sophomore Neal Behm returns his microscope to its reserved place. The instrument is one of the many pieces of equipment Benedictine utilizes to teach students at an accelerated pace.

BENEDICTINE IS RUN in such a way that the individual student doesn't get lost. Sophomore Edward Laketek, of the accelerated 2A class, checks the faculty class schedule to locate a teacher-counselor to discuss studies, college plans or whatever personal or extracurricular problems he faces.

MATHEMATICS IS TOUGH, John Siath, John Pajk and Robert Matejka maintain, because Benedictine's syllabus is formulated by the college entrance examination board's commission on mathematics.

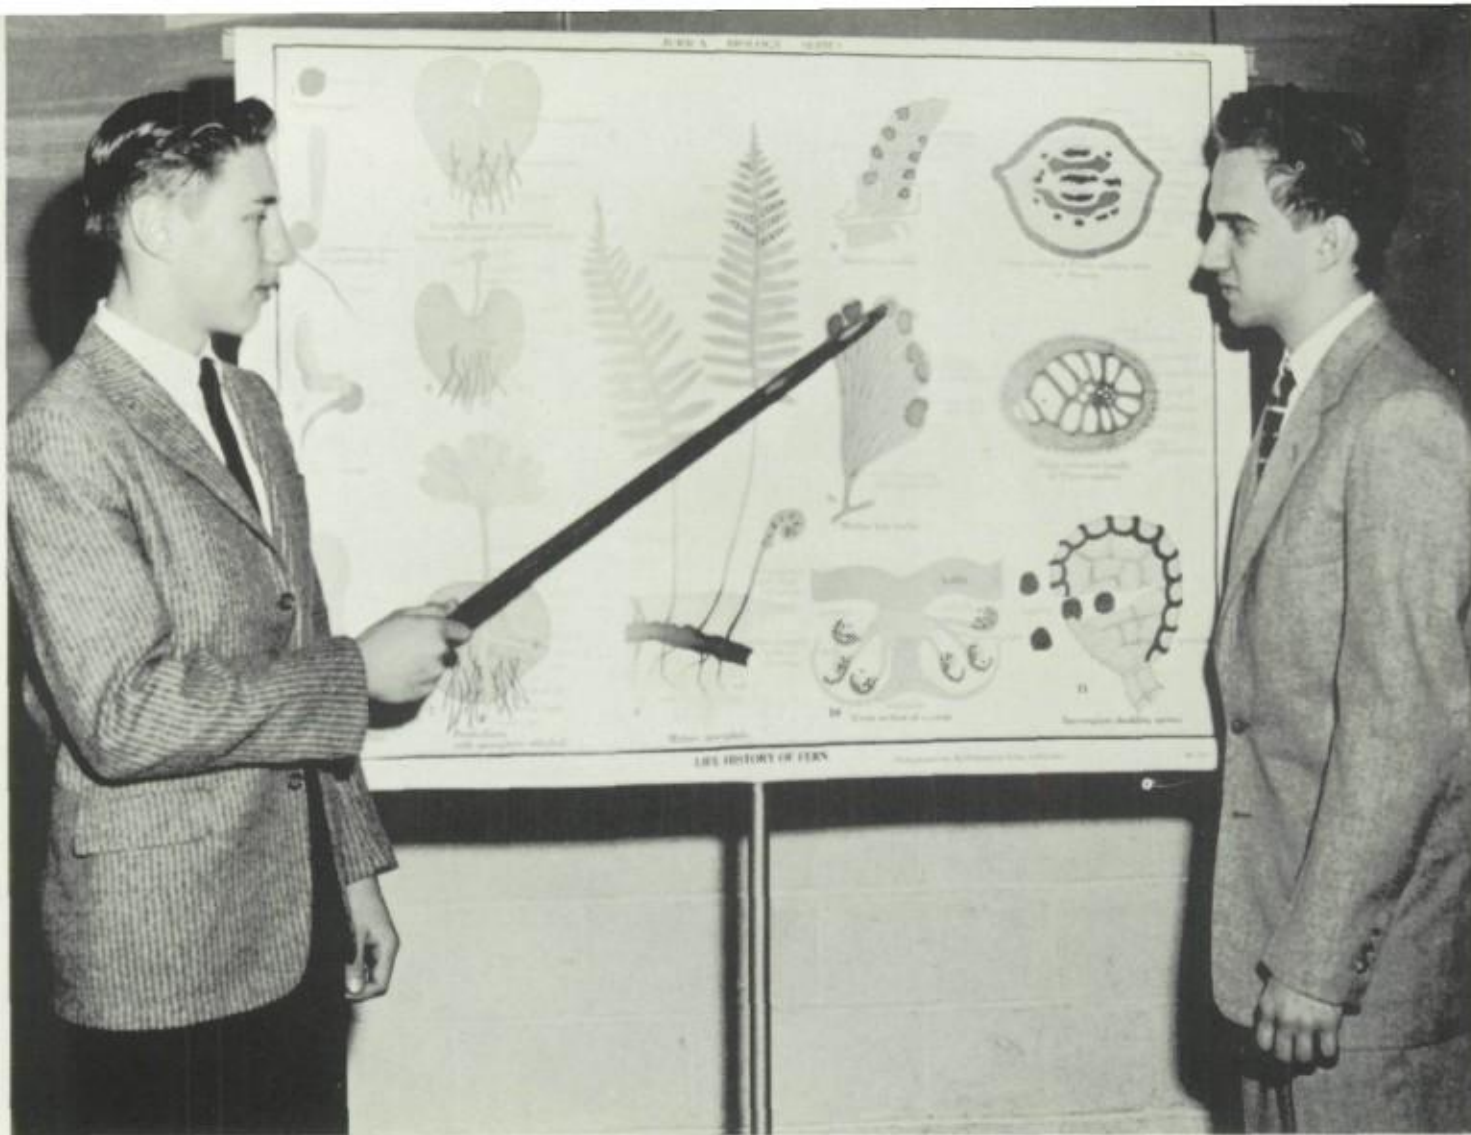

EVER SINCE the Russians orbited sputnik, senior Lawrence Szalay admits Benedictine students are being challenged to a greater degree of research work and like it.

KNOWLEDGE . . .

BENEDICTINE STUDENTS love to play and play hard. But they also take their studies seriously. Sophomores James Semsak (left) and Lawrence Kandrach are doggedly determined to meet the challenge that the school's accelerated program has put to them.

TEACHERS PREFER serious-minded, hard-working students a la Lawrence Gaylor.

BECAUSE HE is a Benedictine graduate, Father Maurus, O.S.B., class of '32, knows and has become a part of the spirit of the school. In such known circumstances, instructor and students readily co-operate to provide the best education possible.

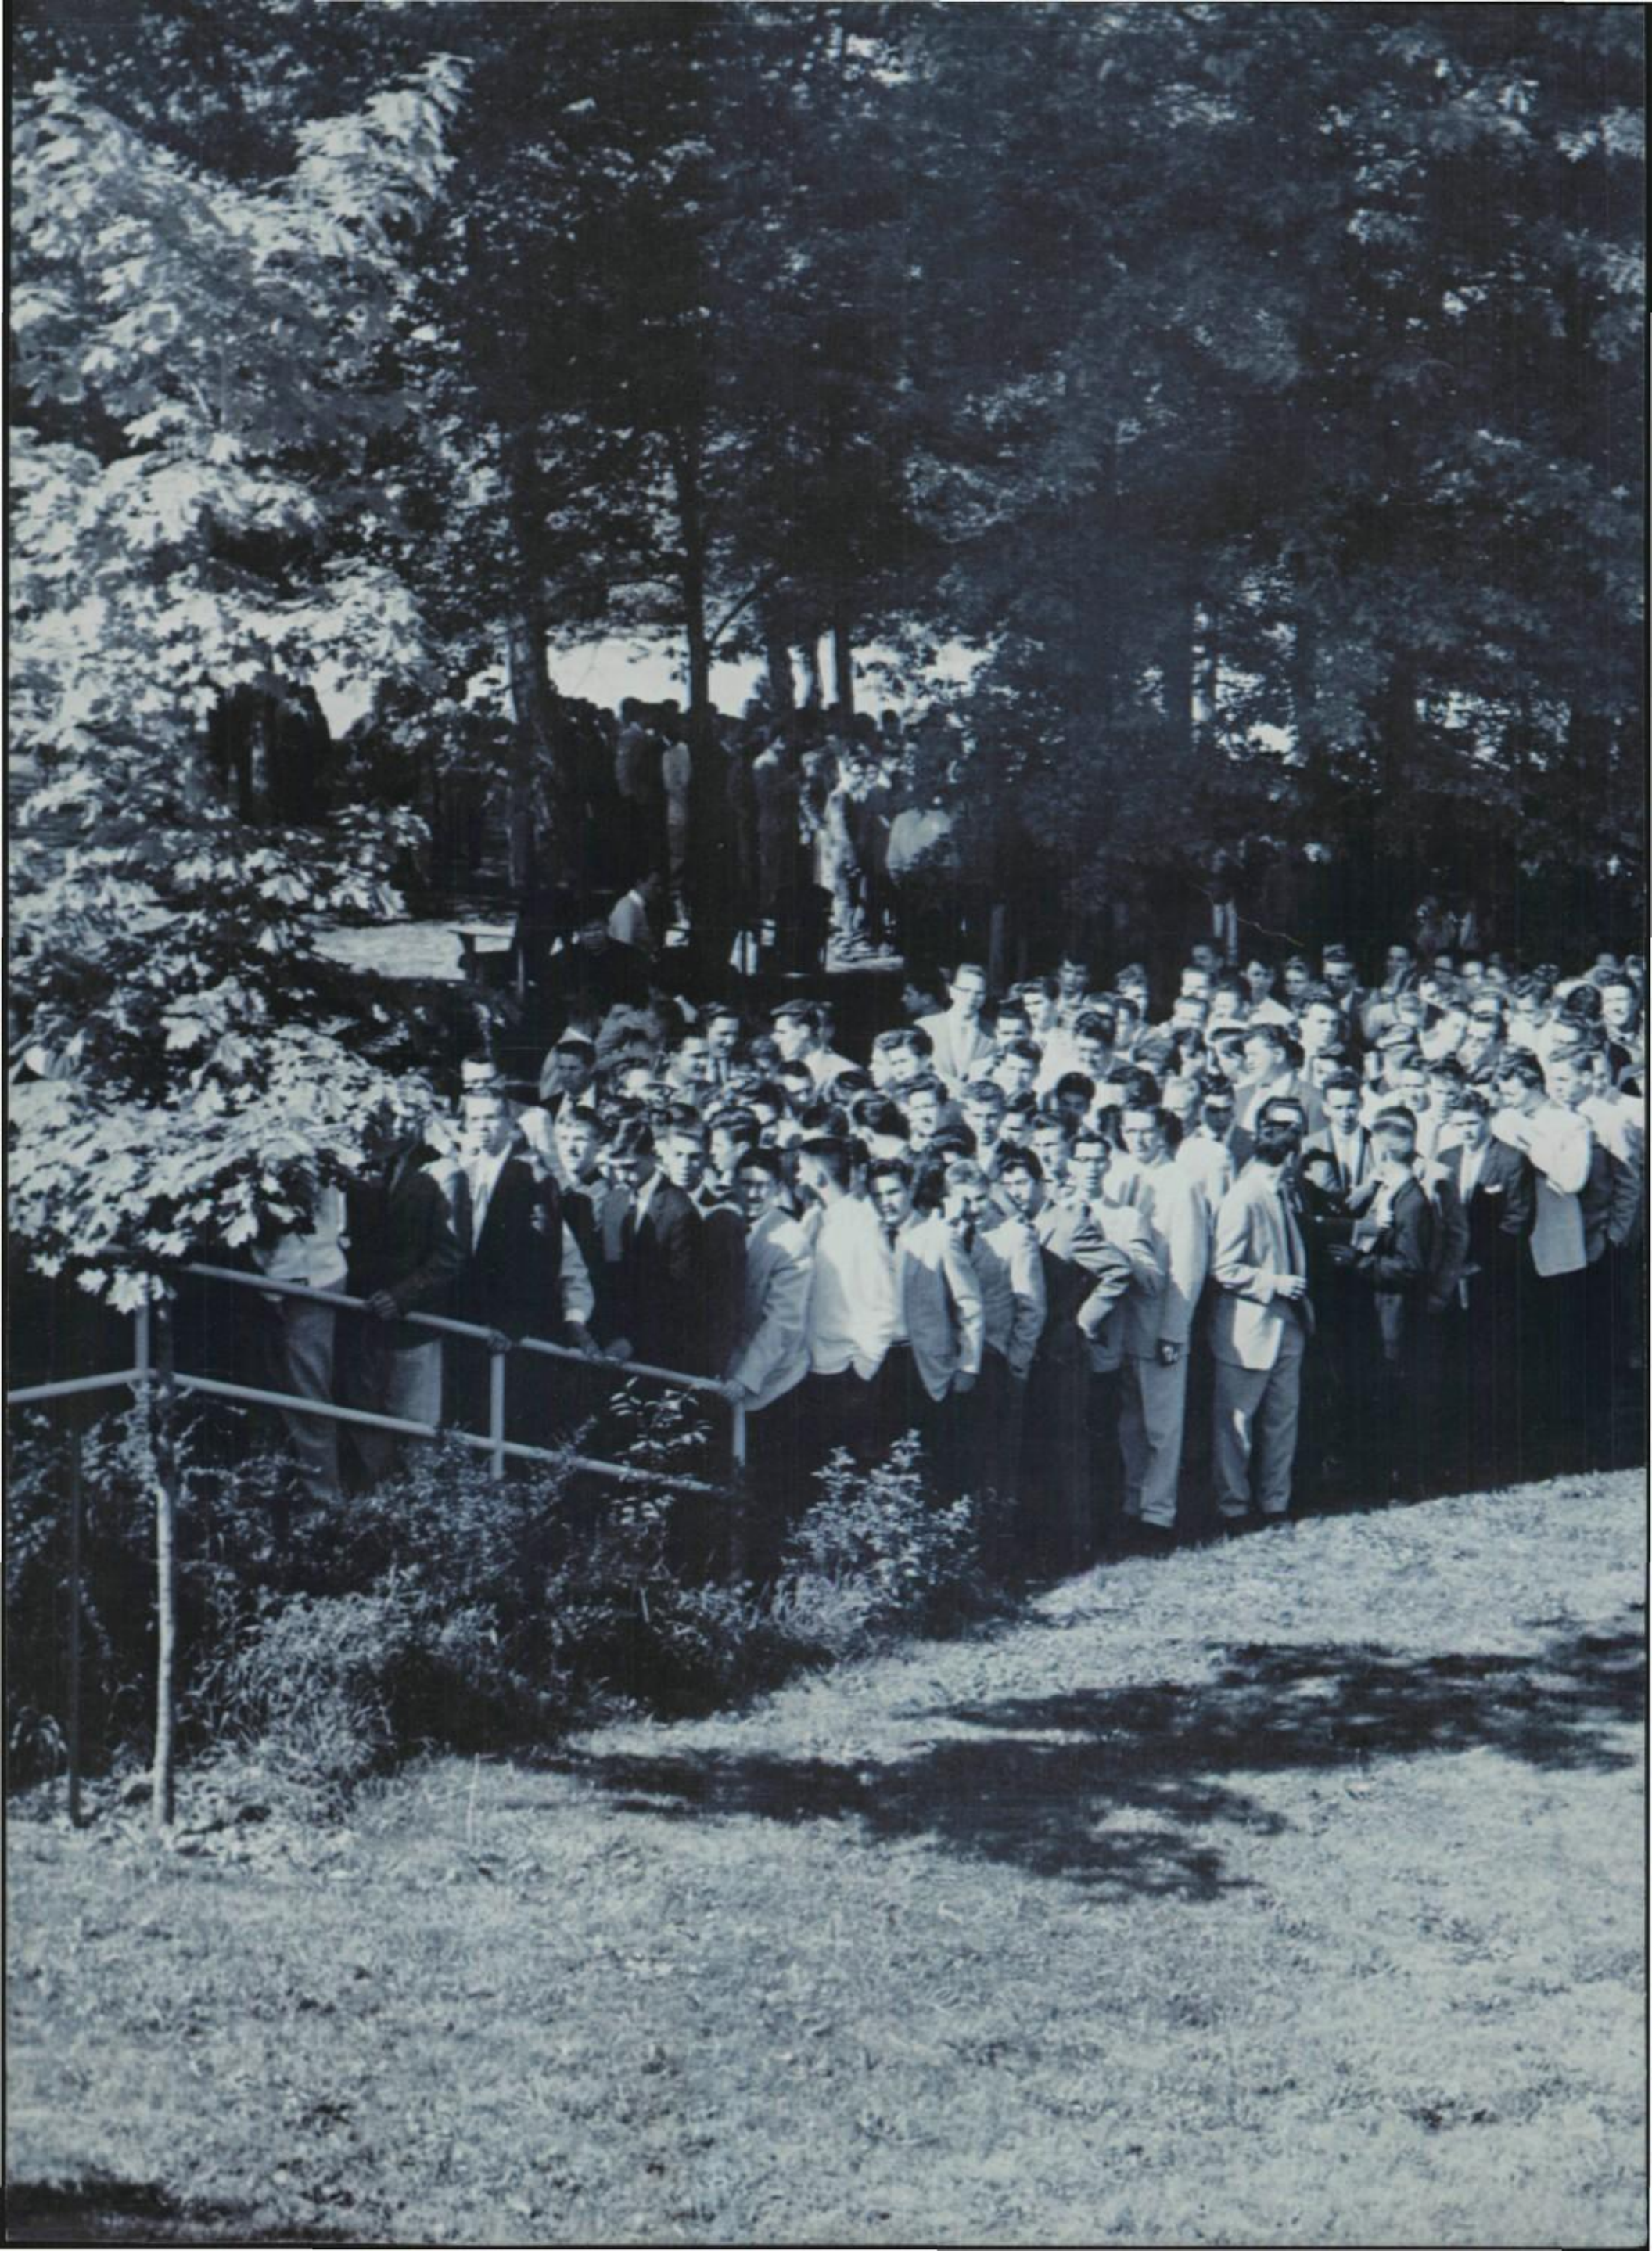

GOOD TEACHERS plus hard work equals Benedictine's success formula. Both Patrick Christopher (wearing glasses) and James Fink have been cited for their superiority in science.

SENIORS Robert Taylor (center) and John Chlebowski learn data about airplanes from Father Method, O.S.B. The aeronautics instructor passed his pilot license exam in 1945.

UNDER- CLASSES

*Benedictine's challenge
college-level work . . .*

Although Benedictine has a full sports program, the school's emphasis is on brains rather than brawn.

Sports are important and Benedictine does develop its students into fine athletes. But students know from the beginning they primarily are at Benedictine to receive a well-rounded education and to prepare themselves for college.

While attending Benedictine their dominating thought is to be education. And for further schooling advice they have their teacher-counselors.

Their work schedule includes three hours of homework each night. Those students who fail to perform are out. Two failures in the second semester, and a student is dismissed.

A "SHARP" TIE is a traffic light at Benedictine. It stops every student. Daniel Kuligowski, (right) 2G, appraises the "eye-wopper" of Thomas Lee, 1D.

THE MEN RESPONSIBLE for Benedictine's sports publicity are Bennet writers (left to right) John Kowalski, 2A; James Fink, 3B, and Gary Toth, 1A.

INSTRUCTOR JOSEPH BOKAR utilizes the map in explaining to Raymond Leger, (center) 1A, and Dennis Klukan, 1A, that history's duty is not only to establish facts but also to interpret.

SENIORS

Benedictine education molds thinking Christian gentlemen possessing essential truths, both religious and mundane, to achieve eternal salvation . . .

Four years of Benedictine! From one viewpoint, they seem like four long years. From the other, they seem very, very short.

They were, nevertheless, years of complete training: spiritual, intellectual, social and physical.

Looking back, the graduates realize now their life's work began shaping when they entered Benedictine. For at Benedictine they were taught to train themselves along the line of Christian gentlemen. At Benedictine they were imbued with knowledge, both sacred and secular, that they may the more competently perform the duties of their chosen states in life, more closely approach to the ideal of a learned Christian.

REACHING THEIR FOURTH AND FINAL YEAR . . .

ACTIVITIES

Extracurricular agencies

fertile with opportunity for facile development of initiative and creativity—

At Benedictine students are encouraged to enter activities outside the classroom as much as possible: spiritual activities; student government; literary, cultural, scientific and class organizations; honorary societies; speech and drama; publications; music; social and booster clubs, and athletics.

Extracurricular activities develop initiative and creativity. They have the advantage of voluntariness. Their atmosphere is uniquely conducive to the development of initiative.

To each extracurricular activity Benedictine assigns a moderator. His function is important, since the activity can easily degenerate into meaningless chaos or it can become merely a sounding board for the hobbies of self-centered leaders.

STUDENT COUNCIL

IN BECOMING student council president, 16-year-old senior Joseph Vetrick set out to promote school spirit, pride in Benedictine and good student-faculty relations.

Under the skill and prudent direction of moderator Father Basil, O.S.B., Benedictine's student council develops initiative and creativity among its members without relinquishing the rights of those in positions of authority on the school faculty.

Benedictine's student council has its basis in the student body. The council is made up of the class officers, homeroom delegates and leaders of all school organizations. The executive board consists of the moderator, four officers and four chairmen. The four chairmen represent all school activities under the four categories of religious, social, cultural and athletic.

Weekly meetings are held. The president prepares agenda beforehand, after consultation with officers and moderator. Parliamentary procedure prevails. At the close of each meeting, homeroom delegates make a report to their classes during homeroom period the following day.

During student assemblies and rallies formal reports are made to the students and a program is presented by one of the organizations within the school.

The student president meets with the principal each day following the council meeting. He briefs the principal on the discussions of the council, seeks advice, asks for suggestions and gives expression to student opinion on controversial issues.

Frequently the president brings with him one of the homeroom delegates, so that the principal may come to know in a more personal way the leaders of the school.

THROUGH MODERATOR Father Basil, O.S.B., gratifying results are being obtained in instances of initiative and creativity among student council members.

BENEDICTINE STUDENTS assisted at a specially scheduled Mass offered by school chaplain Father Prior Jerome, O.S.B., at the campus Marian grotto Sept. 15—the day Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in the United States.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

SINCE 1951, excluding the 1955-56 academic year, chaplain Father Prior Jerome, O.S.B., has been offering the daily 7:50 a.m. Mass in the school chapel.

. . . are objects of our Lord's special affection

The spiritual growth of Benedictine men is the primary concern of the faculty. However, Father Prior Jerome, O.S.B., because he is school chaplain, accepts as his responsibility above all others to train, to guide and to encourage spiritually those souls entrusted to his care.

A PROMOTER OF daily Communion, the chaplain places the Body and Blood of Christ on the tongue of Sarunas Lazdinis.

SCHOLASTICS

Located on campus, Saint Andrew abbey's preparatory seminary occupies the third and fourth floors of the old abbey building.

While residing at the seminary, the prep seminarians attend classes at Benedictine. Father Marian, O.S.B., is director of the seminary which nurtures vocations to the priesthood and Brotherhood.

In cooperation with the Benedictine faculty, Father Marian is keeping the aims and ideals of solid knowledge and spiritual integrity high in his students.

To this end no means are spared in providing subject matter, aids to learning and guidance in personal and spiritual welfare which will assist them to become fully aware of their goal, that of the priesthood or Brotherhood.

WHETHER IT BE the dialogue Mass or singing the Divine Sacrifice in Gregorian chant, the Benedictine student body is led in these liturgical matters by Saint Andrew abbey's preparatory seminarians.

ASSISTING FATHER THOMAS, O.S.B., are seniors Michael Mondzelewski (center) and Paul Mocadlo, senior, who joined the sanctuary society as freshmen.

The Knights of the Altar is a self-rewarding organization, guiding interested Benedictine students in performing accurately and becomingly those parts of liturgical service that fall to the lot of the layman.

Father Prior Jerome, O.S.B., is moderator. Officers include Ronald Witkiewicz, president, Ernest Schmidt, vice-president, and Wallace Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

By devoting their time toward the realization of a successful religious program, the Knights not only intimately participate in the Church's liturgy but also share in the divine life of grace.

FATHER WALTER, O.S.B., checks debater John Scrocca on methods of research, analysis of subject matter, relevancy of material and argumentative logic.

Benedictine debaters are characterized with a passionate love of truth and serve it with all their might through moving tones, glowing imagery, charm of expression and vigor of dialectic.

Besides loving truth, the orators are trained by moderator Father Walter, O.S.B., toward attaining excellence in the art of oral communication, leadership and fellowship, and the ability to understand, appreciate and evaluate, according to Christian principles, the many trends in contemporary society.

THE DEBATE SOCIETY

LIBRARIAN Father Luke, O.S.B., briefs Vincent Belsito and Thomas Friery.

Chosen with a specific bearing on the subjects taught at Benedictine, the school library has an accession list approximating 10,000 volumes in addition to a working library of pamphlets, documents, periodicals, film strips and recordings.

The library's resources are open to students and faculty, providing them with graphic material needed to support properly Benedictine's educational program.

This year the school library increased its collection of records by obtaining additional recordings of English and American prose and poems.

BENEDICTINE YEARBOOK STAFF . . .

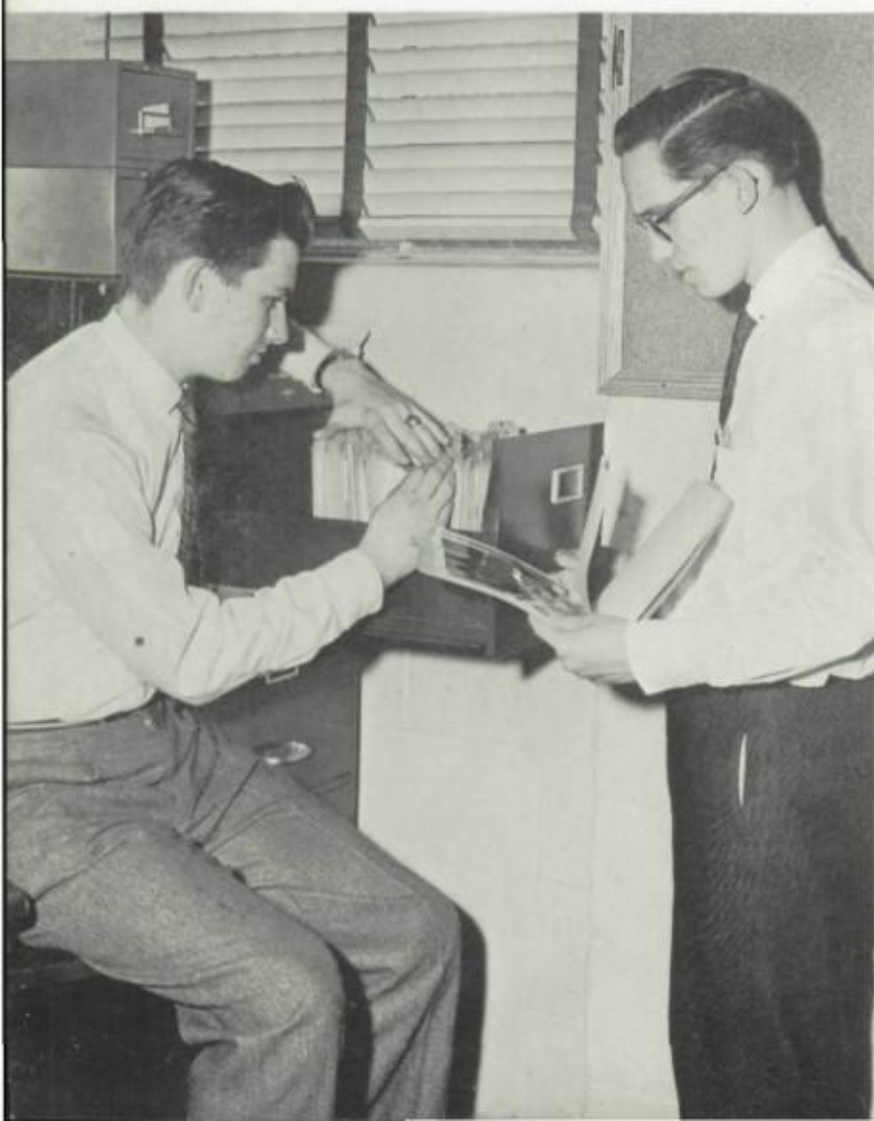

While the school's newspaper and yearbook are under the advisership of Father Donald, O.S.B., the policy is that the seniors on the Bennet staff assume the production of the yearbook.

In September eight Bennet men began their fourth and final year at Benedictine: Andrew Benyo, William Davis, Lawrence Gaylor, Edward Holicky, Daniel Levstek, Paul Mocadlo, Thomas Nemec and John Serkownik.

This group elected Davis as yearbook editor-in-chief. Davis appointed Holicky and Serkownik, business and assistant business managers; Mocadlo, managing editor, and Gaylor, sports editor.

Bennet photographer Gerald Tupa, a junior, agreed to the responsibility of student photographer. To ease the staff's work load, senior Dennis Buyansky was added to the staff.

ASSISTANT SPORTS editor Thomas Nemec (left) and sports editor Lawrence Gaylor aimed to give each Benedictine sport complete coverage as possible.

EDITOR WILLIAM DAVIS could be thinking of a million things, such as: unifying theme, sparkling copy, balance of pages, variety of makeup, sharp glossies, picture cropping and the deadline.

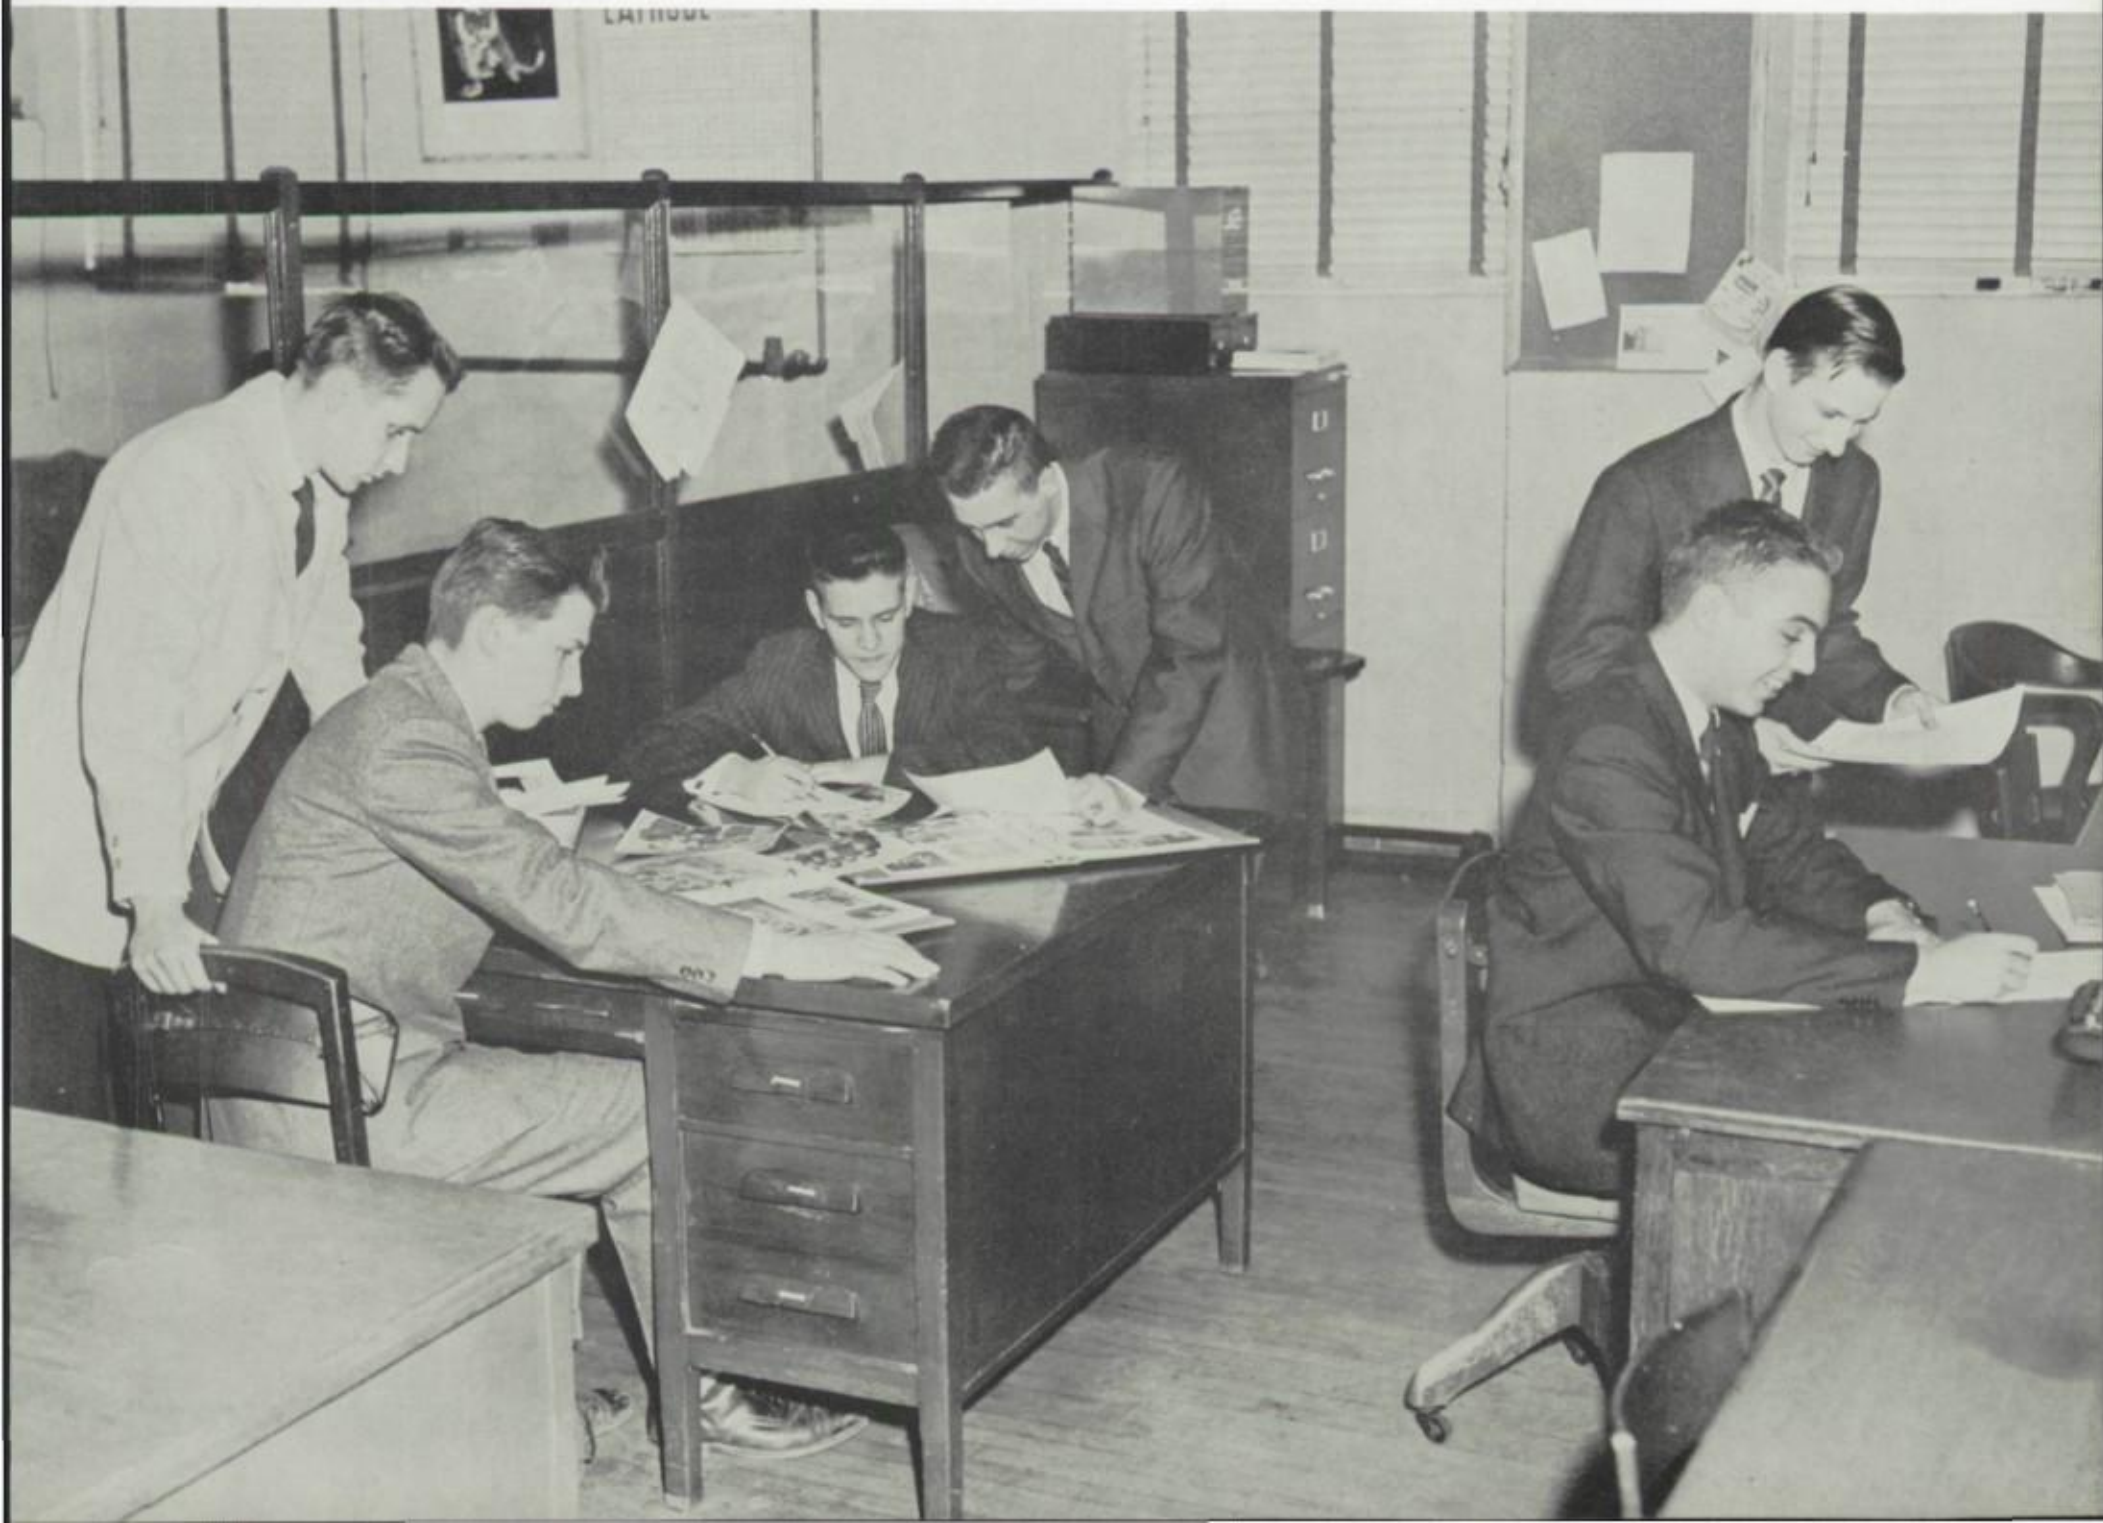

STUDENT YEARBOOK photographer Gerald Tupa examines a negative. With the practical experience gained in working on the 1960 Benedictine, the junior cameraman is all set for the '61 annual.

BENNET NEWS

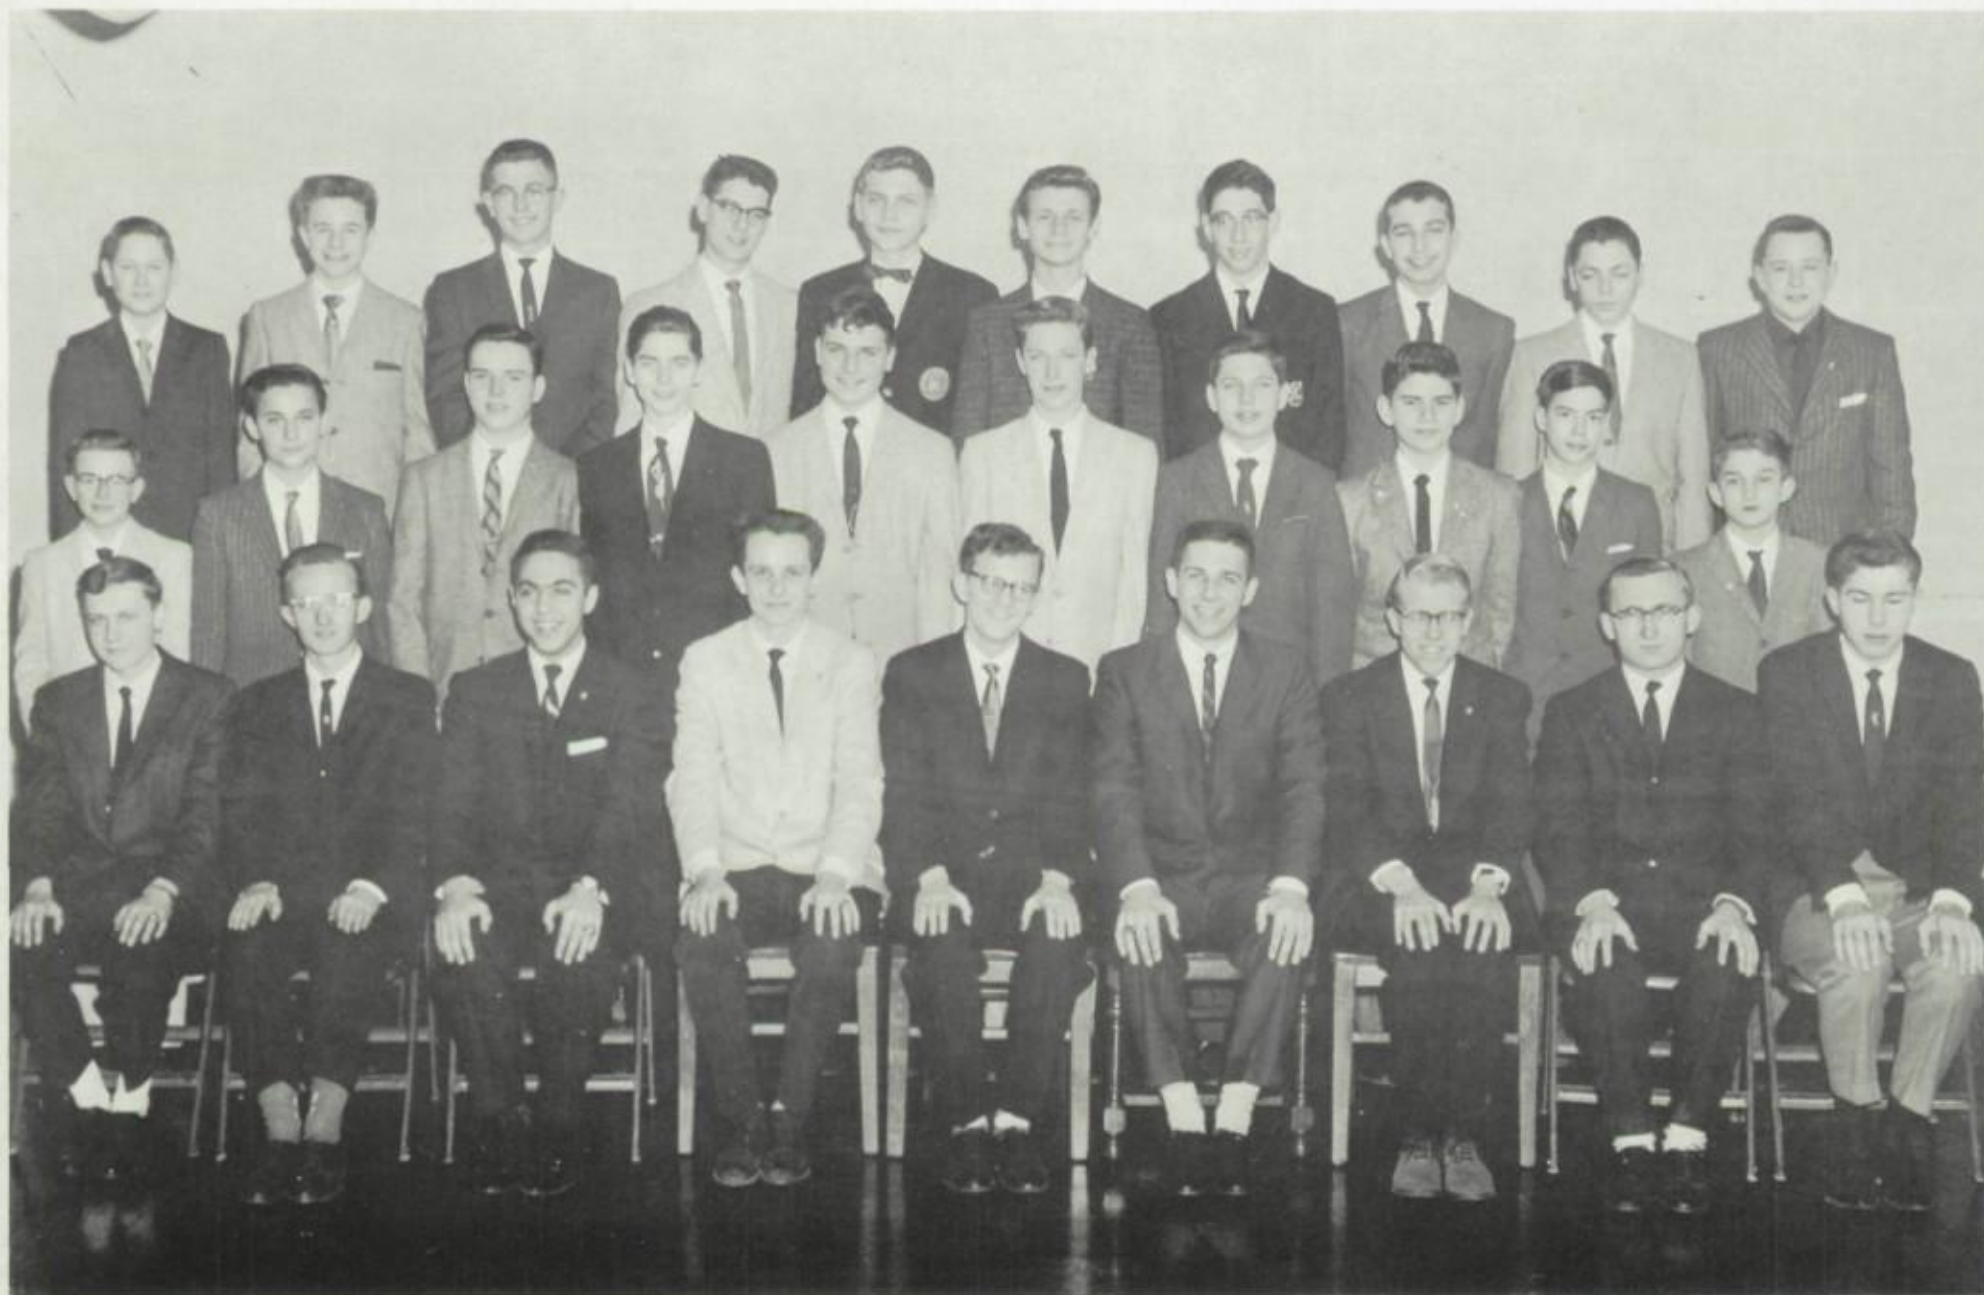

The Bennet is Benedictine's monthly newspaper in which and through which school news and comments on the scholastic events reach the students, faculty, alumni, parents, friends and general public.

The paper has achieved the highest awards offered by the Catholic School Press association; Cleveland Diocesan Scholastic Press association; Columbia Scholastic Press association; Duquesne University Scholastic Press association; National Scholastic Press association; Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press association; Quill and Scroll society; Saint Bonaventure University Press day and University of Detroit Student Press association.

Scholarship and sound health are stressed as prerequisites for members comprising the staff which publishes the national, state, regional and local prize-winning Bennet.

At his best Benedictine's student journalist is a pleasant personality. He is serious about education; has an interest in life and an insatiable curiosity; manifests a logical thinking mind; demonstrates honesty and reliability, and exemplifies a persistence of effort.

He has merited for the Bennet nationwide honors. He will continue to maintain and improve the paper's prestige.

BENNET EDITOR Levstek impressed adviser Father Donald, O.S.B., with introducing the down style headline and two-column box. Levstek also excelled in accurate picture cropping.

BENEDICTINE SCHOLARS

Through its chapter in the National Honor society, Benedictine promotes intellectualism.

In cooperation with the NHS, the school's chapter cuts a deeper path into the forest of knowledge. The chapter has as its objectives the creation of enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulating a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership and to encourage the development of character in students of Benedictine.

A great moment in our lives

BENEDICTINE SENIOR James Lawson, a NHS member and one of the nation's 10,000 National Merit finalists, will enroll at California Institute of Technology, aiming at a doctorate in chemistry.

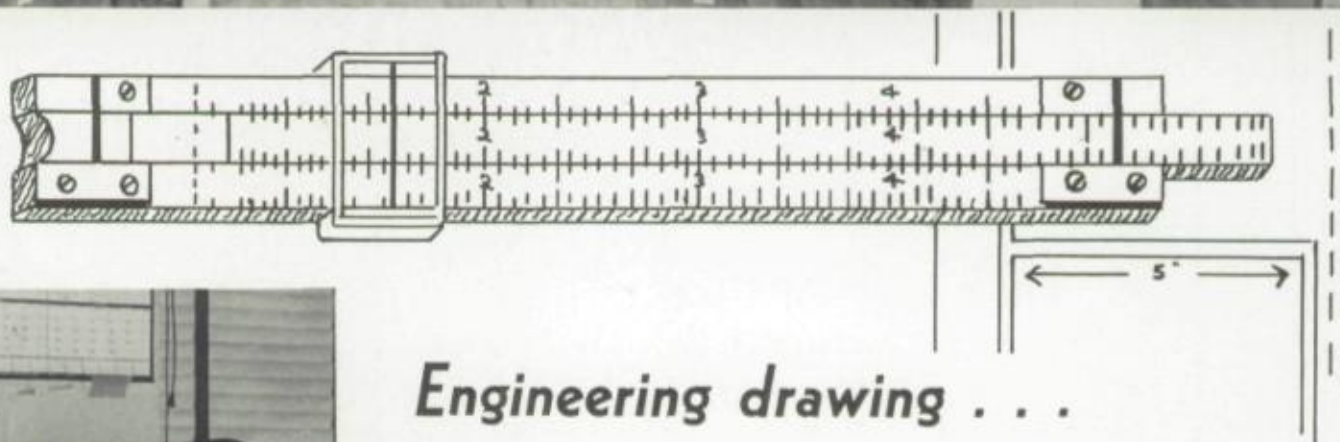

NHS membership is a scholastic distinction and a positive approach toward an intensification of the demand on the intellects of the scholars. The emphasis in studying is channeled toward provoking thought, judgment and generalization.

This intellectual attitude spurs students to do things more intensively to probe the boundaries of their intellects.

"IT'S A PLEASURE . . ." so says Benedictine principal Father Robert, O.S.B., to seniors like Paul Mocadlo when requested to fill out or write recommendations. Mocadlo, a National Honor society scholar, will enter Case Institute of Technology and major in chemical engineering.

Engineering drawing . . .

Top Benedictine engineering drawing students, instructor Father Thomas, O.S.B., maintains, possess a combination of creative ingenuity and analytical understanding of mathematics and science.

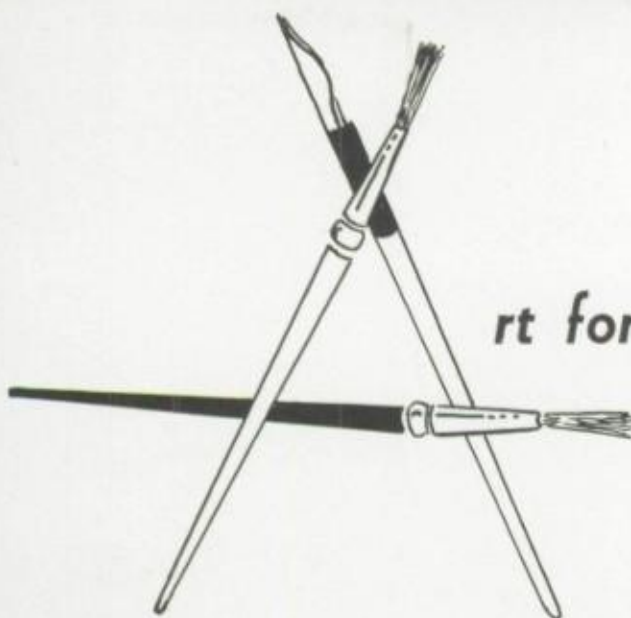

This combination helps distinguish between important and non-important ideas, and assists in the production of original ideas worth analyzing.

TO USE graphical techniques effectively, engineering drawing develops in students, as (left to right) James Sens, Kenneth Oravec and Harold Koberna, spatial visualization, creative thinking and ability to convey ideas.

ASSIGNMENTS in Benedictine art classes aim at developing co-ordination and skill in drawing through use of various materials, including pencil, charcoal, ink and water colors. Classroom work includes human figure, still life, outside studies and the imagination. Henry Crosby serves time as model.

Benedictine's art instructor Jose Cintron seeks to contribute to the general education of students by developing personal aesthetic values. Mr. Cintron guides his students toward individual creative work in visual design through original composition in life drawing and various graphic media.

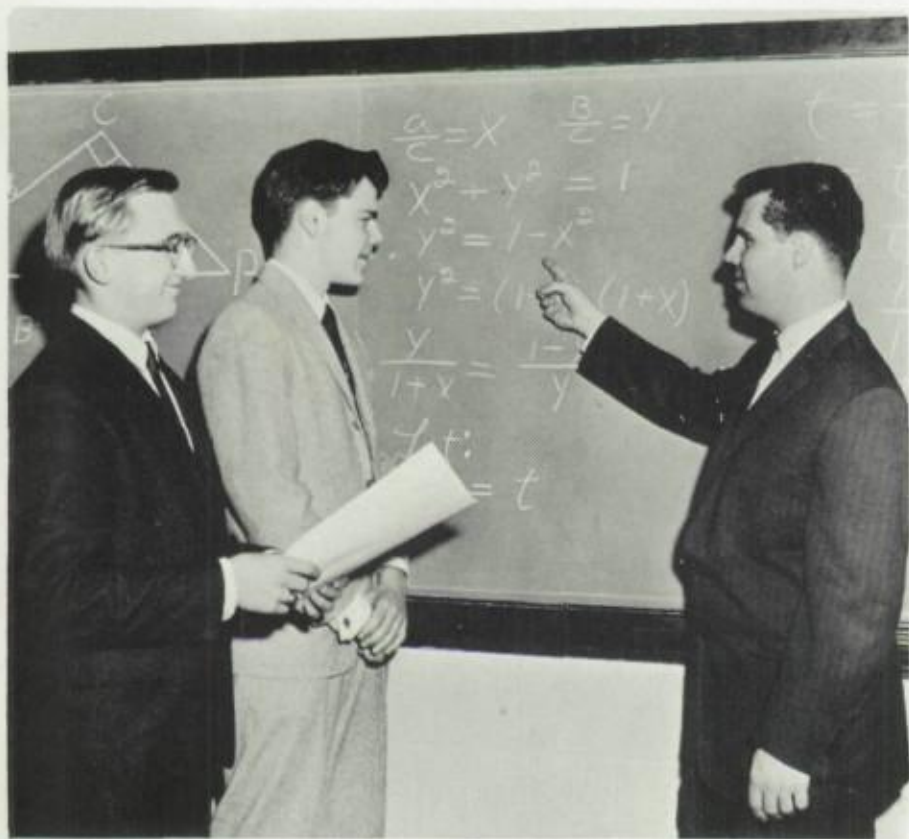

rt for art's sake

FRESHMAN TIBOR ORSZAGH obtains through Mr. Cintron adequate knowledge of fundamental art principles which will serve as groundwork for him should he wish to make art a career, or which will prove of cultural value to him should he study art for enjoyment and understanding.

Abbot Theodore G. Kojis, O.S.B., school president, and Emil Skala, first vice-president.

DADS' CLUB

these are wonderful fathers . . .

THIS "Home of Champions" project, attached to the main school building's northeast wing, is the work of Dads' club members artist William Andrews and carpenters Frank Fott and Anthony Stopek.

ONE OF THE EVENTS listed on the Dads' club calendar is the annual Christmas party. The organization has been a generous Santa Claus to Benedictine, donating over $350,000 to the school through the years.

IT'S ALWAYS DAD who pays. And the Benedictine Dads' club runs true to form. Whether it's the club's card party or roast beef dinner or any other function, the kitchen crew gladly accepts its responsibility.

Every second Wednesday evening of the month the school opens its doors to the Benedictine dads. At 8:00 p.m. on that Wednesday, members of the Dads' club convene for their general monthly meeting in the school auditorium.

Founded in December 1945, the organization has as its objective a closer cooperation between the school and the home, to further activities beneficial to the school and student body, and to cooperate with the faculty to the fullest extent.

PARENTS-BOOSTERS' CLUB

OFFICERS OF THE Parents-Boosters' club are (left to right) Mrs. Emma Naso, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Josephine Labuda, recording secretary; Jerome Friery, vice-president; Father Damian, O.S.B., moderator; Mrs. Gertrude Gad, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Irene Friery, corresponding secretary. President and treasurer are Frank Andrews and Aloysius Stefanek, respectively.

Organized Dec. 16, 1958, the club seeks to promote a better civic understanding of the school and its activities through the Benedictine athletic program.

EVERYBODY HELPED with the Parents-Boosters' first spaghetti dinner. Membership in the organization is open to fathers and mothers of the past, present and future student body, alumni and their wives, and individuals sincerely interested in Benedictine.

BESIDES THE FACULTY-WHK radio disc jockey basketball game, the Parents-Boosters have sponsored two spring dances, sale of pre-season Benedictine varsity football tickets, sale of varsity football and basketball programs, spaghetti dinner and KYW radio road show.

PROCEEDS FROM all Parents-Boosters' activities are currently being channeled toward the organization's $10,000 - school - bus - fund - goal. The club fosters events to defray expenses incurred by the athletic department.

THE PARENTS-BOOSTERS' club coordinates its program with that of the Benedictine athletic department. Officers are nominated in April, elected in May and installed in June.

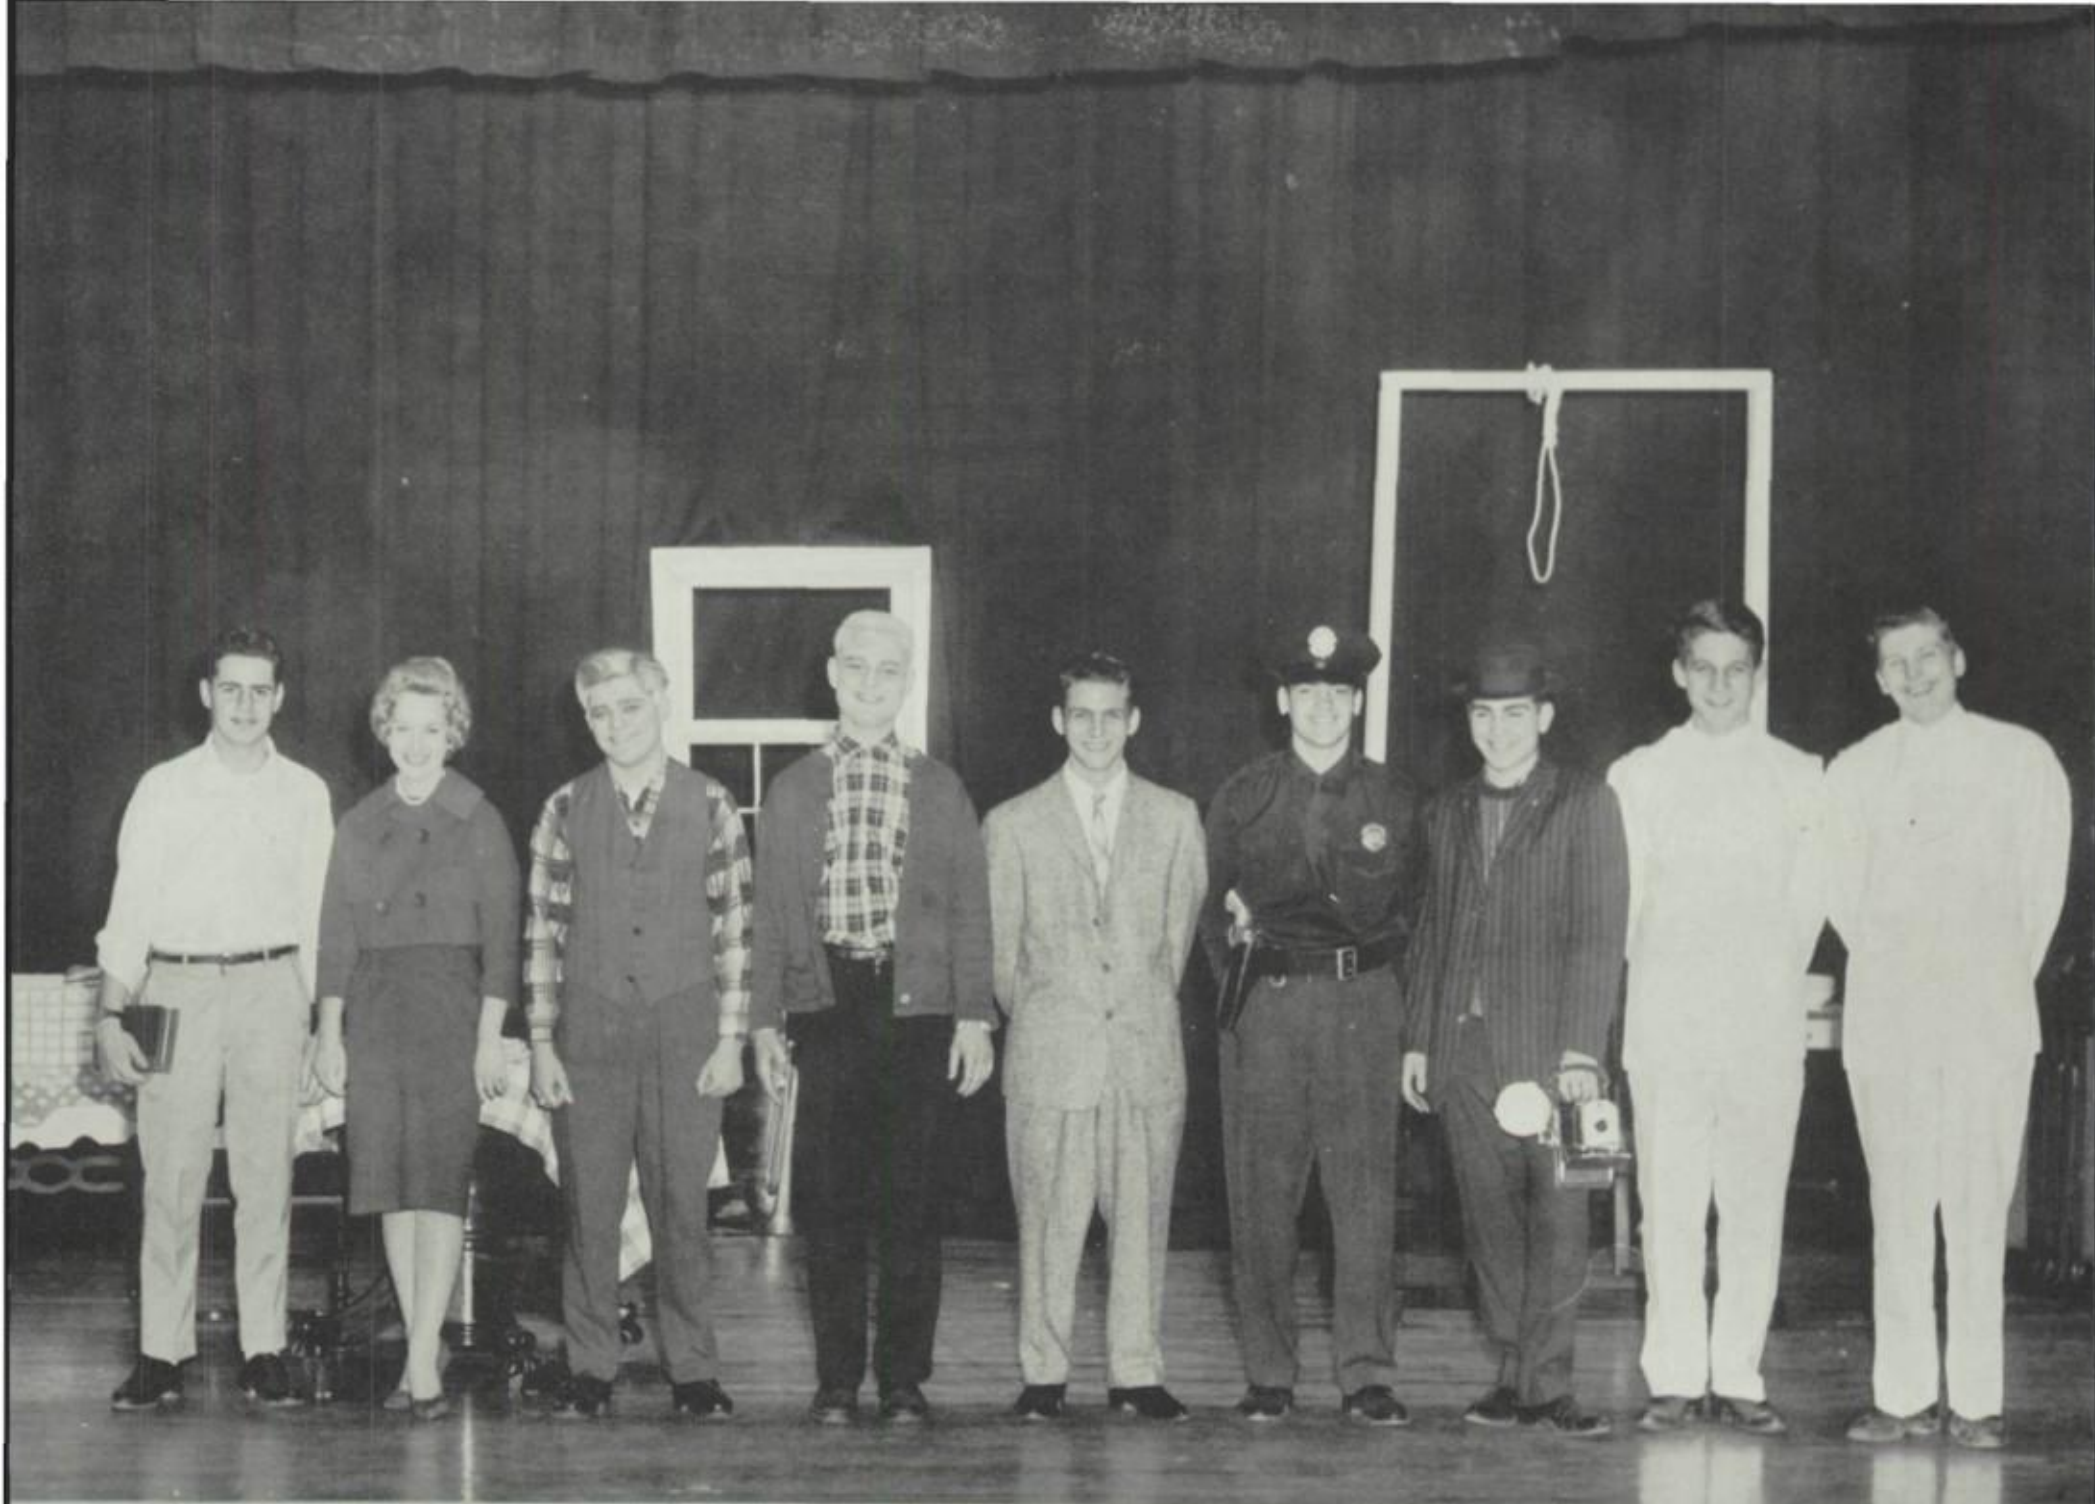

MRS. GERTRUDE GAD and Mrs. Irene Friery (seated, left to right) sold tickets at the spaghetti dinner. Monthly meetings of the Parents-Boosters' club are held on the third Monday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

THE BENEDICTINE ABBEY players staged "The Greatest Man Alive" as their first semester production, featuring Lynda Siko, of Hoban-Dominican, Martin Kralik and Gerald Pusz.

BETTE WILLIAMS, also from Hoban-Dominican, enacted the other female role in "Greatest Man Alive." The three-act comedy was staged in the school auditorium.

"The Greatest Man Alive"

Annually the Benedictine Abbey players schedule two stage productions, one each semester. The school drama club presented "The Greatest Man Alive" Jan. 9 and 10, and "A Case of Springtime" Apr. 23 and 24, under the direction of Leonard Pchola, Benedictine drama coach.

Dennis Kniola portrayed the male lead in the second semester comedy. Other actors included Martin Kralik, George Penfield, David Podwojski, John Scrocca and Joseph Vetrick.

Female roles were enacted by Hoban-Dominican's Margaret Begela, Donna Failla, Jane Hayes, Donna Koeth and Maryann Stefanek; Saint Joseph Byzantine's Dolores Hoenigman and Mary Kamis; Beaumont's Mary Jo Minello, and John Adams' Peggy Hoenigman.

The stage crew, headed by Harold Koberna, comprised Ronald Klimko, James Riant, David Tuma and Richard Klonowski.

The stage crew consisted of Harold Koberna, Ronald Klimko and James Riant. Intermission organ music was provided by Fred Zenesky.

The Benedictine Abbey players are members of the National Thespian Troupe 33 and the National Catholic Theatre conference.

OPENING SCENE of Tony Webster's "Greatest Man Alive" shows Kralik preparing to hang himself.

MEN BEHIND the scenes are juniors Harold Koberna (left) and Ronald Klimko. These students are interested in that phase of play production which emphasizes scenery construction, scene painting and stage lighting.

IN THIS "Greatest Man Alive" scene, Miss Siko, an employee of a research company, seeks Kralik's opinion as to what breakfast cereal he prefers. Listening in is sophomore George Penfield.

TEARS OF JOY overtake Miss Siko as she convinces Kralik not to hang himself. The scene includes (left to right) Klonowski, Arko, Pusz, Miss Siko, Novak, Pokorny, Kralik, Franko and Scrocca.

SINCE SEPTEMBER 1955 drama coach Leonard Pchola has been responsible for all phases of play production at Benedictine: acting, directing, stagecraft, lighting, costuming, choosing plays, casting, makeup and business management.

WHEN THERE'S an intermission during a Benedictine stage production, the school's Lowrey electric organ goes into action with Sophomore Fred Zenesky at the controls.

ALUMNI

The association schedules its monthly meetings for 8:00 p.m. on the last Monday of each month in the school auditorium. The organization encourages alumni to maintain a continuing relationship with Benedictine; enlists the alumni in constructive endeavor for the school; brings to bear on Benedictine and its policies the judgment and view of the alumni.

Furthermore, the Alumni association helps Benedictine find ways for the encouragement of continuing education among the alumni, and helps create and develop among alumni a sense of responsibility to Benedictine.

PAST PRESIDENT of the Alumni association Lawrence Donay, '54, and son Paul (born Feb. 5, 1959) take a walk through Benedictine. Another member of the family, Roby (born Jan. 23, 1960) wanted to accompany his dad and brother but couldn't get out of the cradle.

EVENTS SPONSORED by the Alumni during the scholastic year include September picnic, October football excursions, November and February dances, December varsity basketball game, Christmas party, April Communion breakfast, April bowling party and May card party.

SITE OF THE ALUMNI association's annual Christmas party was the school's physics laboratory. Chairman Father Cyril, O.S.B., physics instructor and a 1931 Benedictine graduate, had his institute of scientific learning specially decorated for the children.

JOSEPH HORNACK, '51, acquaints his two-year-old son Kenny with the Benedictine locker setup.

WHILE COMPETING in a Benedictine intramural league basketball game Dec. 17 in the school gym, senior Lawrence Chojnowski fractured his left foot—nine days before the Christmas ball at Hotel Westlake. Despite crutches and a lame foot, Chojnowski attended the event with his date Tina Risko.

ROBERT TROHA (left) and Eugene Jablonski, besides being sharp dressers and smooth dancers, also happen to excel in what is considered for men the difficult and extraordinary art of conversation. Attentive to every word are the seniors' charming friends, Marilyn Jelenic and Mary Fran Rebro.

THE GRAND MARCH of 100 couples at the senior Christmas ball was led by class president William Zielinski and his queen, Mary Elizabeth Molnar. In addition to Father Cyril, O.S.B., and Father Raphael, O.S.B., other faculty members attending the event were instructors Joseph Bokar and Edward Kubancik.

Two of the most significant social events for the 1960 Benedictine senior class were the Christmas ball and the prom.

The semi-formal yuletide dance was held Dec. 26 in the Marine room of Hotel Westlake. Music was provided by Ann Carroll and her orchestra.

On May 13 the Grand ballroom of the Statler-Hilton hotel was the site of the seniors' formal prom. Phil Delgado and his band played. Assisting the officers with both affairs was the executive committee of the senior class:

Raymond Torda, Lawrence Orihill, Edward Busta, Thomas Kosewic, Joseph Sourini and Frank Matranga.

Marymount High School students, Mary Elizabeth Molnar and Patricia Kassnel, were queens of the Christmas ball and prom, respectively.

BENGAL BOOSTERS

THROUGH STUDENT booster clubs Benedictine boasts unified cheering at athletic contests. Football rallies in the school gym provide the boosters the occasions for cementing the student body behind the Bengals.

On a voluntary basis student booster clubs spring up every school year at Benedictine. In 1959-60, three such organizations obtained sanction of the principal's office. The groups are the 87-member Dominoes, the 65-member Incas and the 12-member Lancers.

The boosters sponsor and supervise rallies prior to athletic contests and decorate the walls of the gym and school corridor walls with their painted posters, placards and banners, urging student support of all Benedictine athletic squads.

MEMBERS OF THE Dominoes, Incas and Lancers prove their effectiveness especially in the stands at Benedictine varsity football and basketball games during which they serve as the motivating force for gentlemanly behaviour and spirited cheering.

The numbers included King Cotton March, highlights from the Broadway musical Gypsy and Student Prince Overture. During intermission moderator Father Cyril, O.S.B., presented special citations to the bandmen.

HIGH POINT for this year's Benedictine 50-piece marching band came Thanksgiving Day when the musical ensemble was featured in pre-game and halftime ceremonies at the twenty-ninth annual city championship football contest. The 23,809 fans attending the Bengal-John Marshall tilt in Municipal Stadium witnessed the band march at a cadence of 150 steps per minute and applauded the precision footwork, intricate maneuvers and sharp turns.

ATHLETICS

Benedictine's sports program lists competitive experience for students' bodily welfare

Physical training plays a prominent part in the educational program at Benedictine.

Physical education courses, varsity and intramural sports are designed immediately to guide all students in the use, development and control of the energies enclosed within the body enabling them to maintain reasonable bodily fitness, to advance in neuromuscular skills and to participate intelligently in the specific recreational and athletic activities.

Remotely the training is definitely intended to prepare the body to operate more effectively as a fit instrument of the soul and as a worthy temple of the Holy Spirit, for which purposes it was created.

getting ready for the kickoff

The 1959 Bengal varsity football season marked Augie Bossu's fifth consecutive campaign as Benedictine's head grid coach.

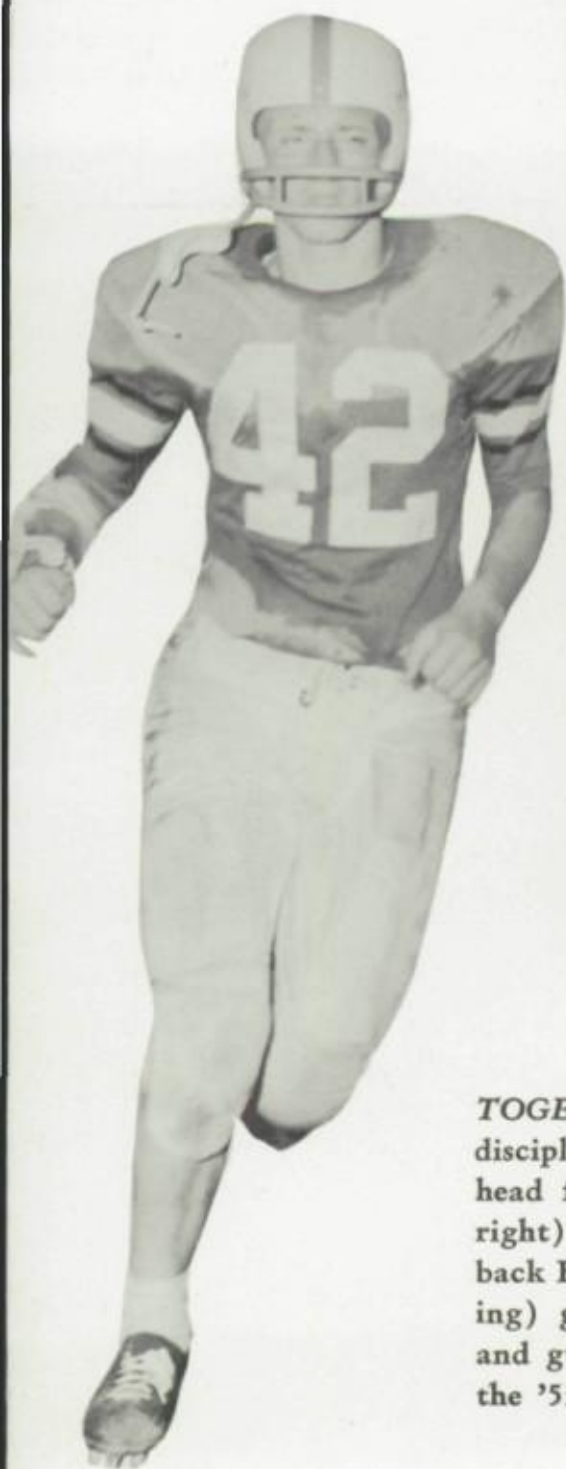

A nine-game schedule faced the Bengals, which spotlighted three independent foes and six East Senate opponents. However, before the season ended, Benedictine engaged in two additional contests, namely, the tilt to decide East Senate's representative in the city championship encounter and the city championship tussle itself.

Nine monagram winners formed the squad's nucleus. They included seniors Tony Gibbons, Al Grigaliunas, Bob Jambor, Dennis Marcin, Tom Tvrdek and Joe Zahorsky, and juniors Dick Kestner, Paul Rini and Joe Schepis.

Benedictine compiled a 7-2-2 record. The Bengals shared the East Senate co-championship with East, and the city co-championship with John Marshall, West Senate monarch.

FANS AT WORK—Through 11 Bengal varsity football games, Benedictine's student body and faithful followers backed the Blue and White Tigers from the first flip of the coin to the final crack of the gun.

TOGETHERNESS has become a trademark of the closely-knit, well-disciplined Bengals under the gentle but firm Augie Bossu, Benedictine's head football coach. Listening to their mentor are (standing, left to right) end Tom Watson, halfback Ross Farro, end Dick Forgach, halfback Bob Bekeasz, center John Siath and quarterback Joe Bujak; (kneeling) guard Dennis Marcin, tackle Joe Zahorsky, tackle Tom Tvrdik and guard Dick Kestner. . . . CAPTAIN and end Al Grigaliunas led the '59 Bengal varsity.

The starting lineup on offense for Benedictine's varsity listed ends Tom Watson, Al Grigaliunas; tackles Joe Zahorsky, Tony Gibbons; guards Dick Kestner, Dennis Marcin; center John Siath; quarterback Joe Bujak; fullback Renato Tollis, and halfbacks Paul Rini, Bob Bekesz. Watson, Kestner and Rini are juniors; others are seniors.

TWO-POINT LANDING — Benedictine fullback Renato Tollis balances his 183-pound frame on the John Adams' four-yard line.

AGAINST CATHEDRAL LATIN, Benedictine righthalf Bob Bekesz lugged the ball seven times, gaining 50 yards and compiling a 7.1 average.

GROUND ATTACK of the Benedictine Bengals against East in the East Senate playoff was paced by junior halfback Paul Rini (77) who scampered across the Bombers' goal line thrice.

MASTER MINDS—Benedictine's coach Augie Bossu and quarterback Joe Bujak plan Bengals' next offensive move. . . . BATH TIME—Bengal safetyman Tom Kosewic dashes willingly toward a mud bath after intercepting a Collinwood pass.

HANGING ON—Art Hastings (31), safetyman and fullback for state champion Massillon, slows up Benedictine's righthalf Joe Schepis long enough for teammate left end Jim Houston to come in for the kill. Since the three gridders are juniors, they'll meet again come September.

Prayer, work and sacrifice characterize Bengals . . .

BENGALS Miano, Naso, Hummel and Bujak wait turn to play.

HEAD DOWN—Bengal safetyman Jim Kolenich is pushed out-of-bounds by Glenville Tarblooders.

OUR LADY OF VICTORY—Benedictine gridders visit the campus Marian grotto before and after each practice session. They also pray at the shrine before departing for a game and upon arriving from a tussle.

Against independent opponents Benedictine's varsity football squad lost to Holy Name, 6-0; Massillon, 30-6; but jolted Mansfield, 26-13.

The Bengals defeated East Senate foes Cathedral Latin, 8-0; John Adams, 18-0; Glenville, 8-6; East Tech, 34-0; tied East, 6-6, and edged Collinwood, 14-6.

Benedictine then outscored East, 22-7, in the East Senate playoff game and tied John Marshall, 12-12, in the city championship tilt.

BUSTING LOOSE — Jim Brock, Benedictine lefthalf, broke through Massillon's line and was touchdown bound. But a Tiger caught the Bengal from behind and erased the senior's moment of glory.

ALLEY OOP — Al Grigaliunas jumps the way he learned as a Bengal varsity basketball and baseball player to snare floater.

READY TO ROLL — Quarterback Joe Bujak handed off to Renato Tollis (41) and the Benedictine fullback charged into East's wall during the Bengal-Bomber playoff game. Guard Dennis Marcin (24) led the downfield blocking.

MASKED BANDIT—Stealing 21 yards against Mans-field is Bengal righthalf Tom Malinak. The stolen ground was immediately returned as the officials spotted a fel-low Bengal assisting the junior gain the yardage through illegal means.

MOLDERS OF CHAMPIONS—With the 1959-60 scholastic year Father Damian, O.S.B., began his term as Benedictine's faculty manager of athletics. Seated with him are athletic director Joe Rufus (left) and head football coach Augie Bos-su. Standing are assistant grid mentors Ed Kubancik, Bill Nar-duzzi and Jerry Bush.

GO BENGALS GO!—Football pep rallies are held in the school gym. The varsity and coaches are the main attraction, seated either on stage or in the center of the gym floor.

Besides being somewhat of a measurement of school spirit, pep rallies assist Bengal gridders to meet their next foe in a proper frame of mind.

TOUCHDOWN MAKERS—

During the grid campaign the Bengal starting lineup was mostly responsible for the team's 23 touchdowns. The players are (standing, left to right) Rini, Bekesz, Tollis and Bujak, (kneeling) Watson, Zahorsky, Marcin, Siath, Kestner, Gibbons and Grigaliunas.

Bengals maintain prestige . . .

SPIRIT OF BENEDICTINE—Father Prior Jerome, O.S.B., school chaplain, has been emceeing Bengal grid rallies since September 1948.

TOP RUNNER—Junior lefthalf Paul Rini ran the Bengal pigskin 174 times, amassed 839 yards, averaged 4.8 yards per carry, scored 62 points.

YEAH BENGALS! — Among visiting cheerleaders from east side schools at Benedictine's championship game rally were these Marymount beauties.

Four Bengal varsity gridgers who merited post-season honors are captain, right end, Al Grigaliunas—Plain Dealer East Senate; Press All-Scholastic, East Senate; News All-Scholastic, East Senate; United Press International first team defense; Columbus Jaycee All-Ohio; North All-Star; Associated Press first team defense; Universe Bulletin Senate All-Catholic; Cleveland Touchdown club: unanimous choice East Senate's outstanding player.

CHAMPIONS' BANQUET — At Benedictine's football banquet in the school auditorium, five Bengals received permanent individual trophies. They are end Al Grigaliunas, "Most Outstanding Offensive Lineman;" tackle Tom Tvrdik, "Most Outstanding Defensive Lineman;" halfback Paul Rini, "Most Outstanding Offensive Back;" linebacker Dick Kestner, "Most Outstanding Defensive Back," and halfback Bob Jambor, "Most Outstanding Punter."

BENGAL QUEEN AND ATTENDANTS—Joan Karpi, center, was Benedictine's football queen for the city championship game. Her attendants were Carole Danszczak (left) and Colette Pivon. Each girl was an elected representative of a senior homeroom at Marymount high school. The varsity elected the queen on the basis of the candidates' 500-word autobiographies and picture portraits.

UPCOMING FULLBACK — The 1960 Bengal varsity has junior Joe Miano (32) to fill the fullback slot. His '59 running record: 251 yards in 60 carries for a 4.2 average.

BENGAL BOOSTERS—Through 11 grid games cheers for the fighting Benedictine Bengals were led by (left to right) Kendall Fleming, John Clubb, Bill Procop, Bill Zarlenga and Dave Kopkas.

TOP BRASS—Among notable personalities who graced the main table at the Bengals' football banquet were master of ceremonies Edward Caldwell, John Adams high athletic director, and main speaker Ara Parseghian, Northwestern university's head grid coach.

CHAMPIONSHIP ADVICE — Key-note speaker at the Bengals' championship game rally was John Ray, John Carroll university's head football mentor, honored as the nation's number one Catholic college mentor in '59.

BIG TEN VIEWPOINT — On hand to honor the Benedictine Bengals at their grid banquet was main speaker Ara Parseghian, Northwestern university's head grid coach.

DEFENSIVE GIANTS—Right linebacker Ross Farro (65), right safetyman Tom Kosewic (80), left guard Tom Tvrdik (35), left linebacker Tony Palmieri (44), and left safetyman Jim Kolenich (99), joined left end Grigaliunas, left tackle Zahorsky, right guard Marcin, right tackle Gibbons, right end Watson and middle linebacker Kestner to form Benedictine's starting defensive varsity eleven.

The 7-2-2 mark for Benedictine's 1959 football varsity increased Augie Bossu's five-season Bengal coaching record to 38 wins, seven defeats and two ties.

Postseason football honors of Benedictine varsity teams follow.

1945 — East Senate co-champions with Cathedral Latin. 1948 — East Senate and city champions. 1950 — East Senate champs, city co-champs with Saint Ignatius. 1951—East Senate co-champions with Collinwood. 1952 — East Senate and city champions.

WRESTLING

BENEDICTINE COACH Bill Narduzzi "Eng-lished" his Bengals from the bench.

Coached by Bill Narduzzi, Benedictine's 1959-60 varsity wrestling team consisted of five seniors, nine juniors and eight sophomores.

Seniors and their weight divisions included Paul Rusnak, 127; Chuck DeCaro, 138; captain Bill Horrigan, 145; Dick Zbiegien, 175, and John Siath, 185.

Juniors: Jack Arra, 120; Ross Faranda, 127; John Polz, 133; Walt Mikols, 138; Jerry Estvander, 154; Dick Kestner, 154; Myron Crevar, 154; Bob Jason, 185, and Andy Hudacko, 185.

Sophomores: Ed Repasy, 103; Mike See, 103; Pete Vacca, 112; Jim Boyer, 120; Joe Franchino, 127; Don Dura, 165; Dave Podwojski, 175, and Tom Piazza, 175.

The Bengals lost an independent match to Willoughby South, 33-16, and eight consecutive Senate contests:

West, 40-10; Lincoln, 27-21; John Adams, 41-8; Collinwood, 44-3; John Marshall, 47-5; West Tech, 33-13; South, 39-6, and Rhodes, 33-15.

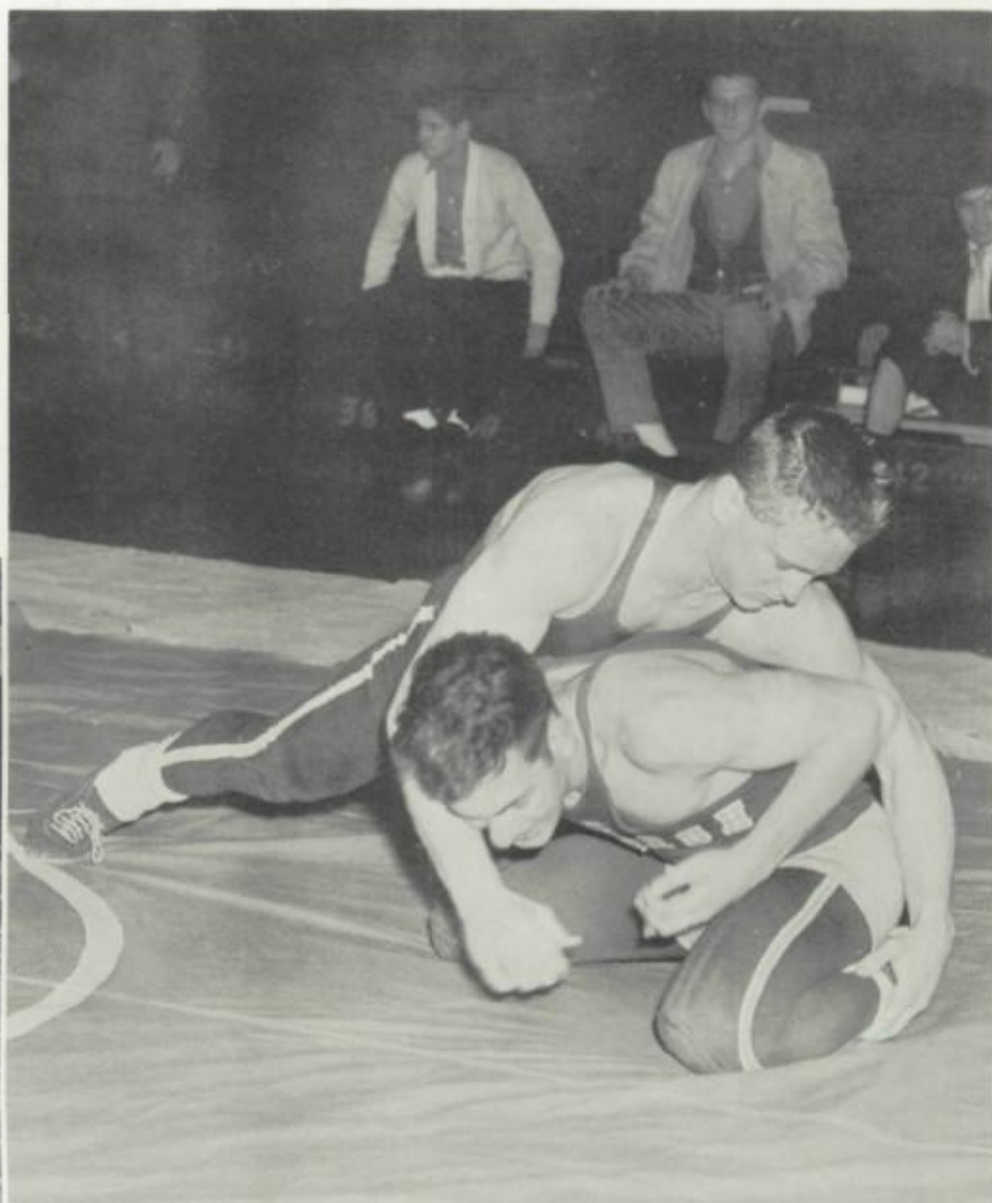

BENGAL CHUCK DE CARO rests his chin on West Tech Karl Bort's back during their 138-pound match at Benedictine.

CAPTAIN BILL HORRIGAN of Benedictine, 145 pounds, had to be satisfied with a decision over West Tech's Fred Odon.

IN THE SECOND ROUND of this 154-pound match, Benedictine's Dick Kestner pinned his foe Carmen Zagaria of West Tech. Kestner, a Bengal varsity gridder, will be among the 17 returnees for next year's squad.

ANOTHER VETERAN who will bolster Benedictine's wrestling team next season is junior John Polz. The Bengal 133-pounder half nelsons Dick Makaneczny and eventually registers five points on a pin in this Senate encounter.

SENIOR TONY GIBBONS (55), a first string, two-way right tackle on Benedictine's varsity grid squad, utilized his six-foot, three-inch, 220-pound frame as a center with the Bengal varsity cagers also.

BASKETBALL

BENEDICTINE and Cathedral Latin cagers reach for a rebound in the Lions' gym. Identifiable Bengals are captain Conrad Barle (15), and Al Grigaliunas (11).

Benedictine varsity basketball coach Ed Kubancik guided the '59-'60 Bengal squad to an overall record of six triumphs and 11 setbacks. By registering similar 6-8 East Senate records, the Bengals and John Adams tied for fourth place in the league.

Bengal-Lion Game:—

Hands Up!

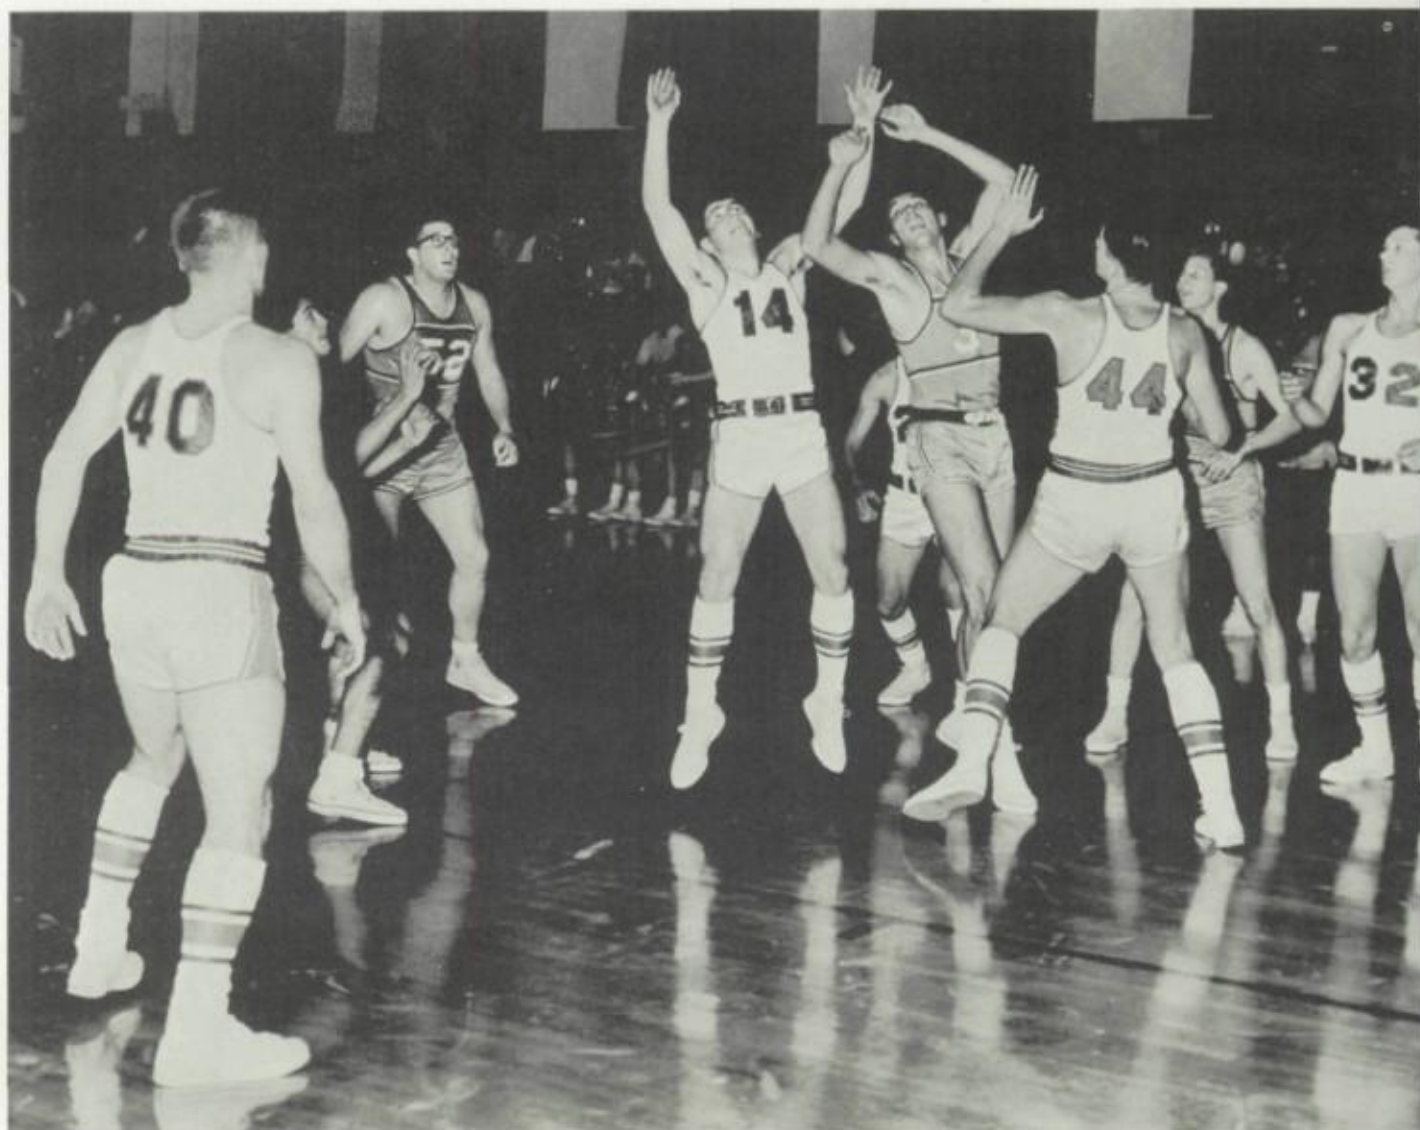

THE TWO POINTS about to be potted by Bengal right guard Al Grigaliunas (50) helped Benedictine win an overtime victory over visiting John Hay, 54-50.

BENEDICTINE'S LEFT FORWARD Al Jackson (32) clinched the first round overtime triumph against the Hay Bookkeepers by connecting for four points in the extra session.

As the '59-'60 varsity basketball season came to an end, Benedictine's starting five consisted of one senior and four juniors.

The senior was 6-1, right forward captain Conrad Barle. The juniors included 5-11, left forward Al Jackson; 6-2, center Jim Hummel; 5-8, left guard Dan O'Shaughnessy and 5-11, right guard Ron Sobieraj.

The remaining six cagers on the 11-man varsity were seniors 6-3, center Tony Gibbons and 5-11, right guard Al Grigaliunas, and juniors 6-2 forward Jerry Spisak; 6-2, center Tom Watson and guards 5-10 Hank Durica and 5-10 Dennis Andrews.

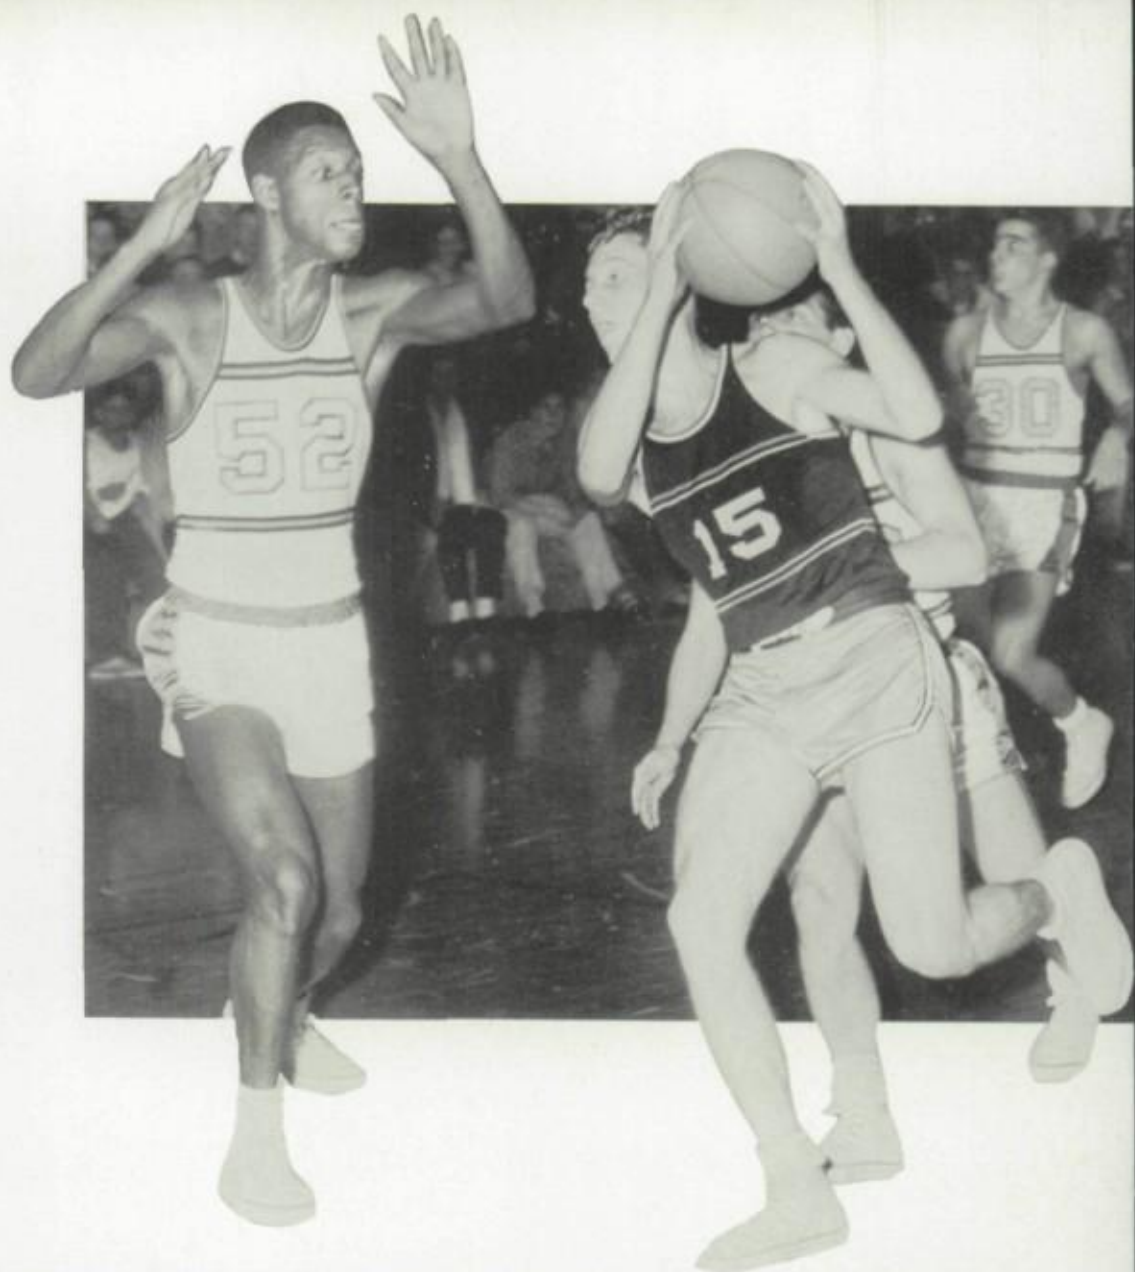

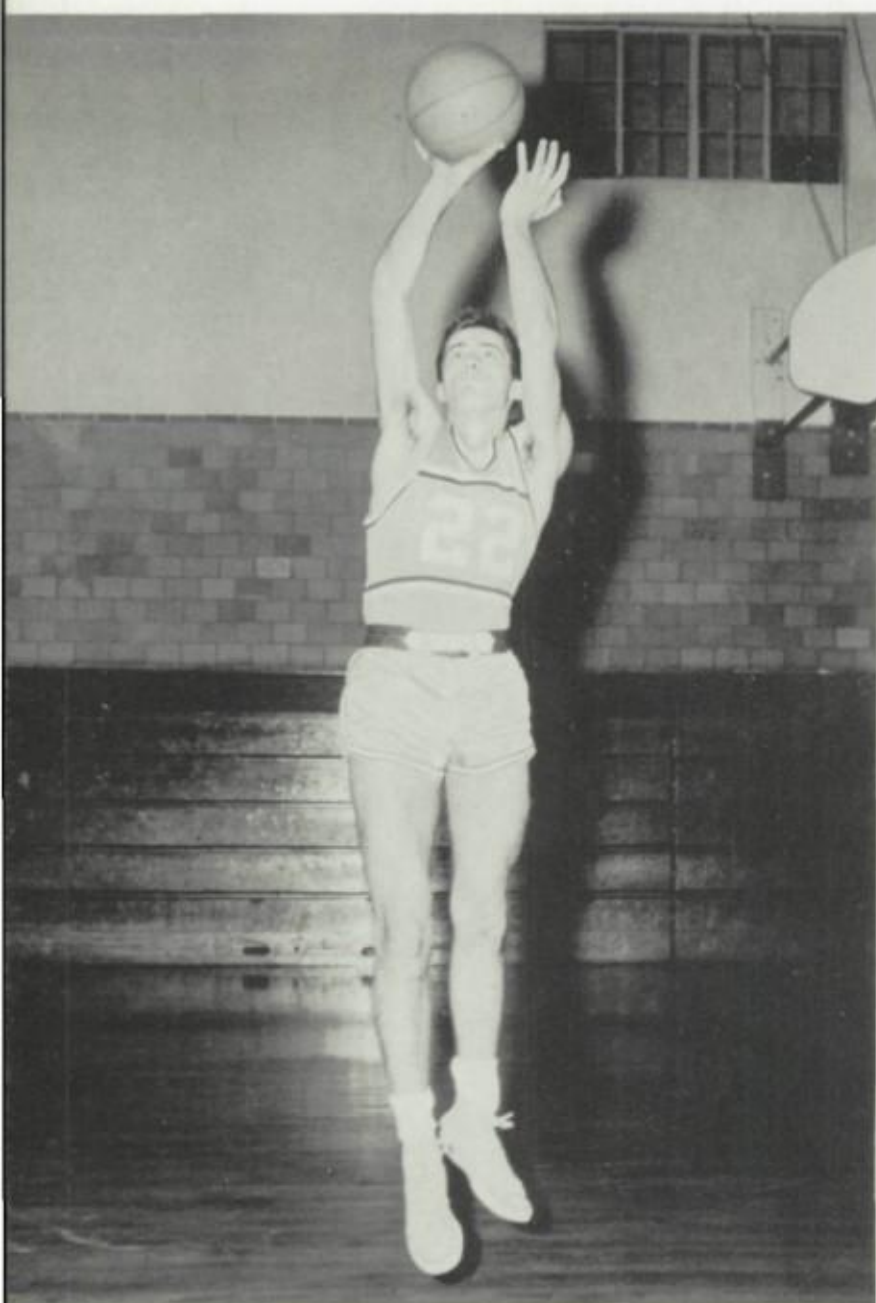

BENEDICTINE LEFT GUARD Dan O'Shaughnessy scores an easy layup shot. The junior's season point-total of 117 was the third highest among Bengal varsity cagers.

IN THE FINAL three games of the campaign, coach Kubancik began to use six-foot, two-inch center Tom Watson (45, dark jersey) more frequently.

BENEDICTINE'S SEVENTH annual honors and awards convocation was June 3. The assembly commenced with a 9 a.m. Mass at the campus Marian grotto. Then followed the remaining portion of the program in the school auditorium.

THE THIRTIETH annual commencement exercises of Benedictine were June 12. The 240 graduates assisted at 9 a.m. Mass in Saint Benedict church. Diplomas were awarded by the school president at 3 p.m. in Saint Benedict's.

GRADUATION

in our lives . . .

WILLIAM DAVIS, yearbook editor and an editor emeritus of the Bennet, breaks his usual pensive countenance with a Sunday smile upon receiving special commendation from Father Robert, O.S.B., school principal.

DURING THE HONORS and awards convocation the school president presides and Benedictine students obtain recognition for their achievements, be it intellectual, spiritual, social or athletic.

ATTIRED IN cap and gown —the Benedictine graduate begins the morning of commencement day by assisting at Mass and receiving Communion in Saint Benedict church.

Commencement day approaches. The prospective Benedictine graduate thinks. He meditates on his four years of Benedictine education.

He finds that the faculty trained him to be a Benedictine man, a good man, adequately prepared for college and aware of his moral and social responsibilities.

Through an education which trains both mind and will, the prospective Benedictine graduate knows what God expects of him in life and that he has sufficient character to follow God's will.

By studying the college preparatory course, the prospective Benedictine graduate confidently seeks a higher education to live a fuller and more useful life and to prepare for a career.

He leaves Benedictine perceiving he cannot merely think of himself through life, that the moral and social responsibility of leadership is one of the greatest opportunities the United States affords.

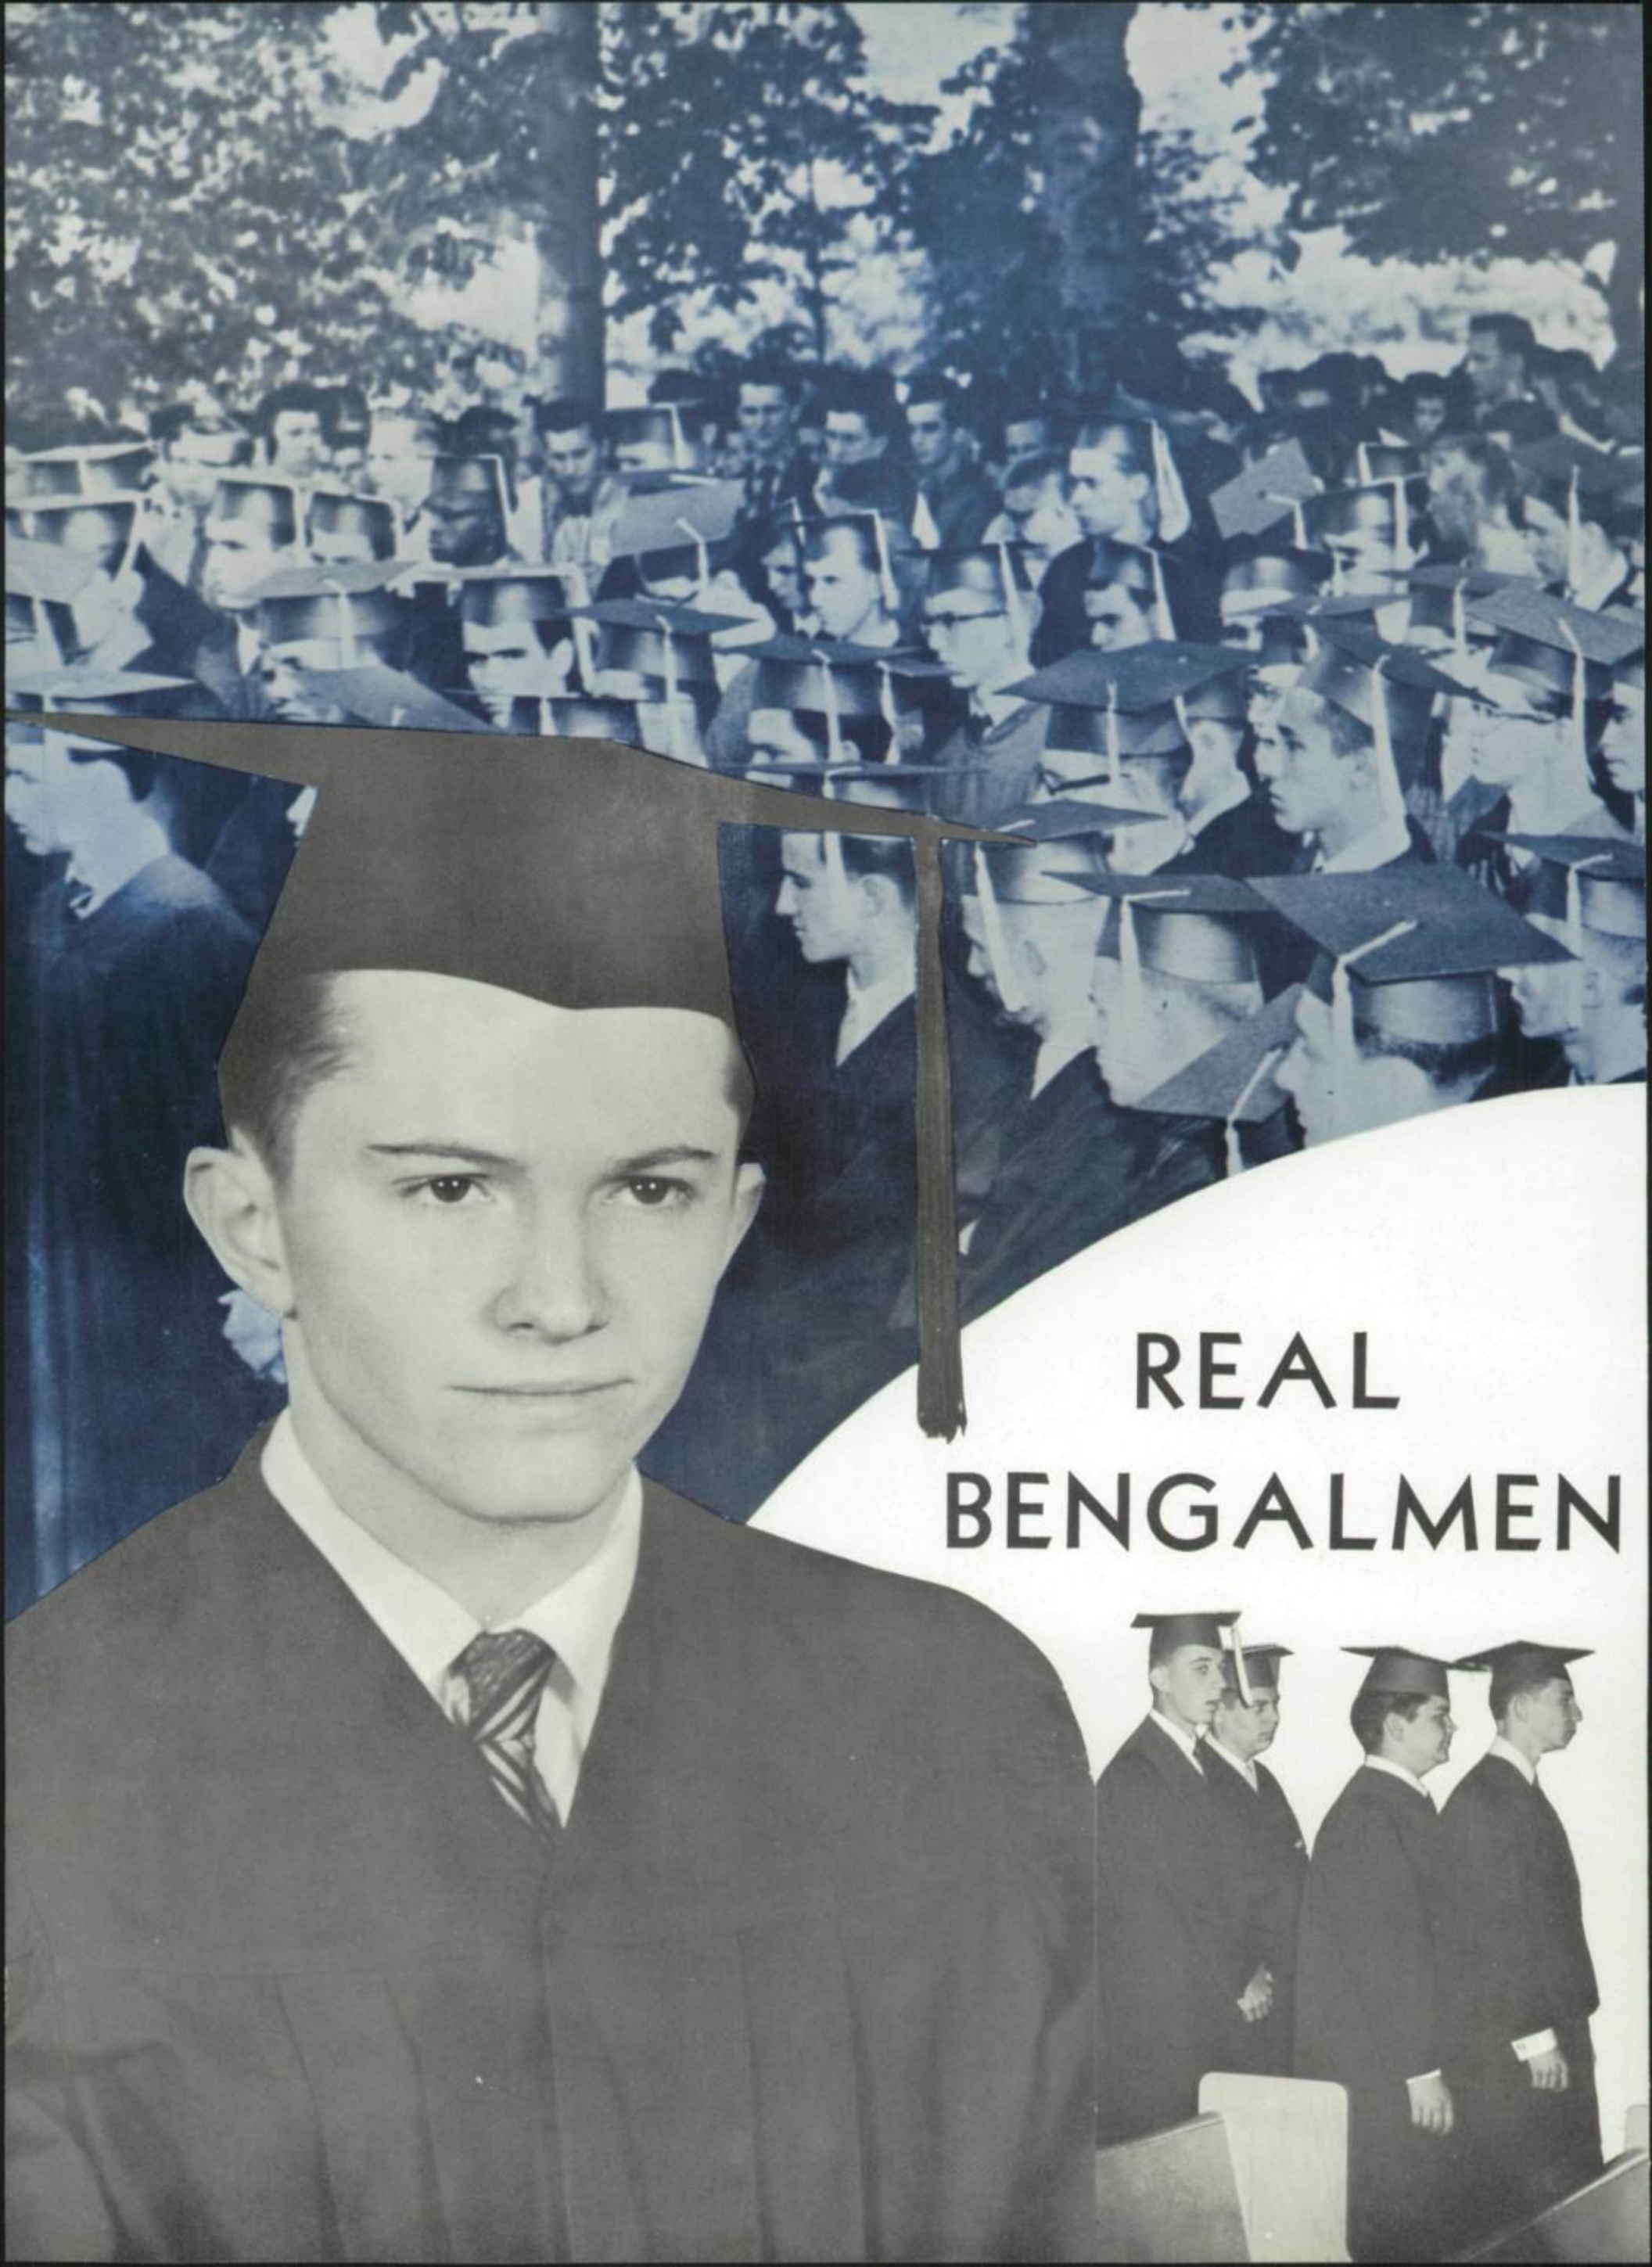

BEFORE RECEIVING their diplomas, prospective graduates visit campus grotto and pray to Mary for the last time as Benedictine students.

God-Centered Graduate

"Education comes from the association of an immature mind with a mature mind."

REAL BENGALMEN

NOW!

Benedictine education is not merely the process of acquiring knowledge, but a human life that studies, prays, plays, cries and works together.

Where academic examinations are tests of character as well as intellectual capacity.

Where meriting a diploma is a solemn admission that the graduate is capable of adapting his subjective ideas to objective reality, and is able to discern what appears true and good to him is really so in the objective order of values.

Acknowledgments:

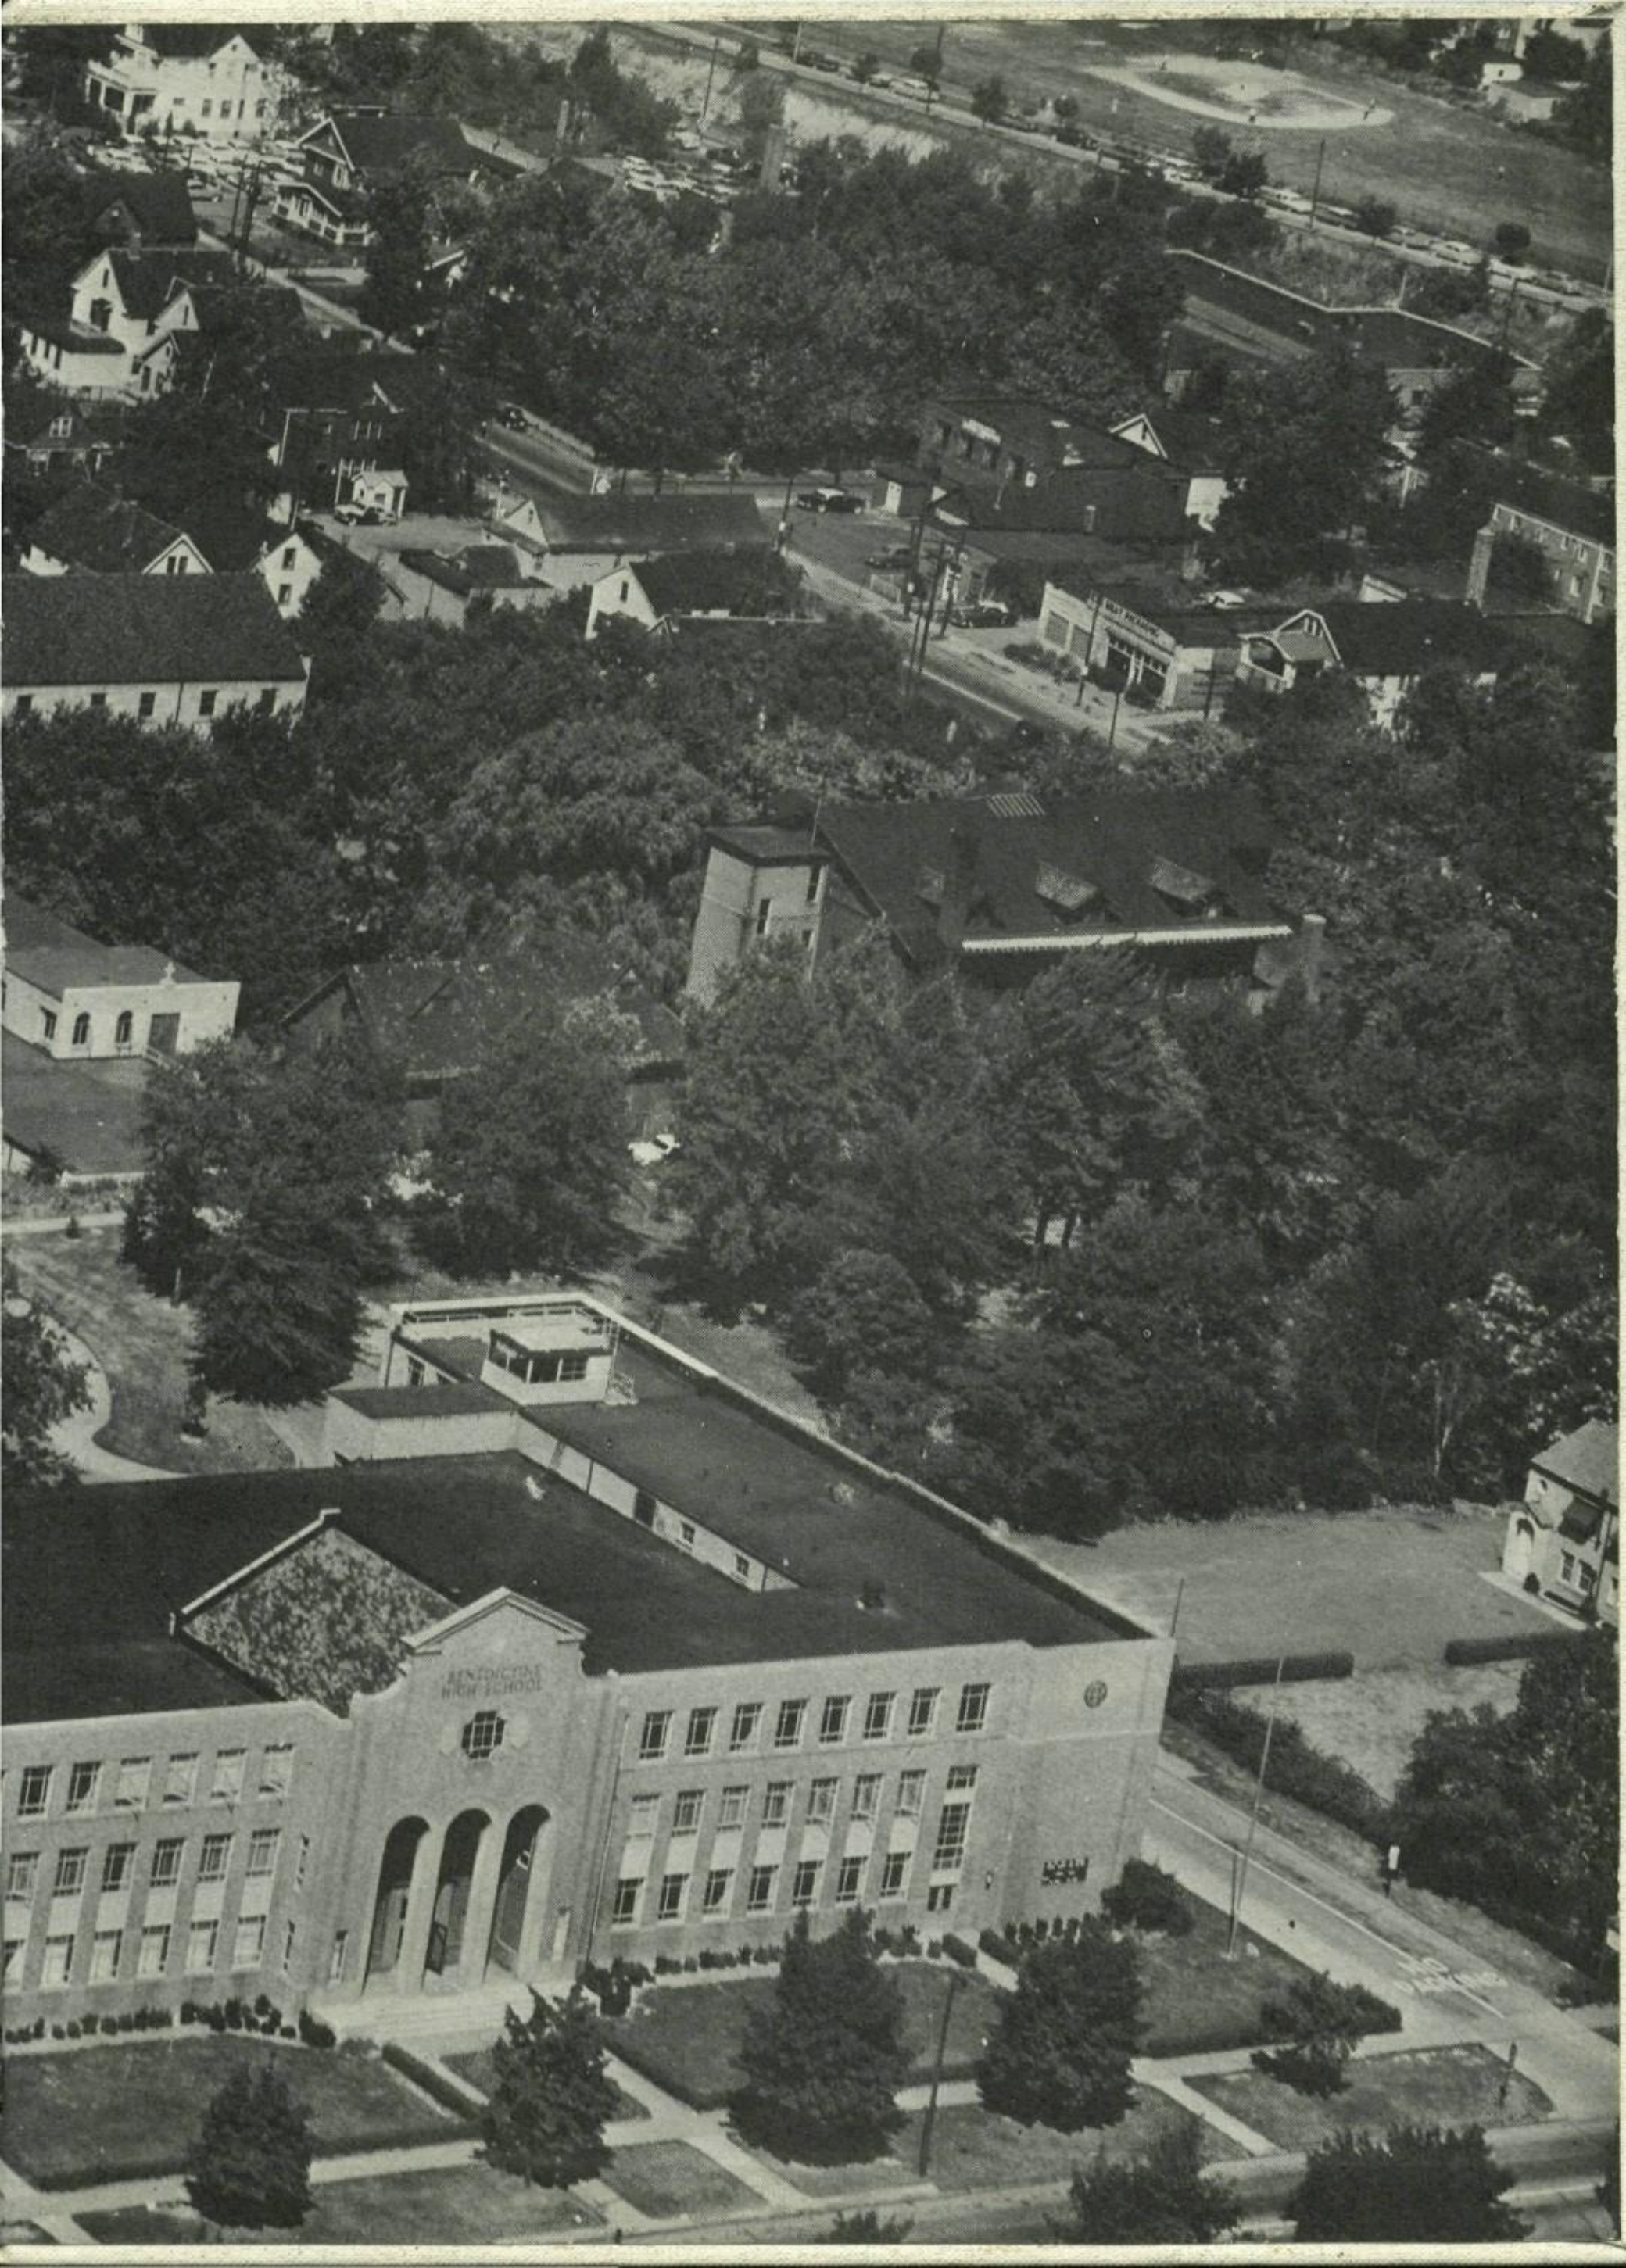

There are a number of persons excluding the student staff who assisted with the production of the 1960 Benedictine and merit my sincere thanks and deepest appreciation. Here in the limited space are a few of those individuals:

- Benedictine's principal Father Robert, O.S.B., and the school faculty.
- Students, parents, relatives, friends, business firms and patrons—for their financial support.
- Harvey Singerman, president of Character Arts Studio, Inc., 10400 Buckeye road, and Mrs. Elaine Pinzone, secretary-treasurer.
- Peter Petrone, proprietor of the Ambassador Dress Suit Rental, 1516-22 Hayden avenue.
- Edward H. Ursprung and staff at the William T. Cooke Publishing Inc., 21 South Twenty-first street, Philadelphia.
- The Cleveland Plain Dealer and The Cleveland Press and News—for photographs.
